MACHINE-GUNS MOW DOWN GENEVA RIOTERS

MOB OUT OF HAND

TROOPS CAUGHT IN AMBUSH

GRIM SCENES

EIGHT KILLED: 30 WOUNDED

Geneva, Nov. 10.
The sharp rattle of machine-gun fire was heard along the shores of Lake Geneva yesterday afternoon as the grim sequel to violent riot scenes.

The hail of bullets brought down thirty-three of the demonstrators, three of them being killed outright.

The fateful disturbances in the world peace centre began with an apparently peaceful demonstration staged as a protest against the activities of two Socialist leaders.

The Socialists were angrily attacked and in a short time, the demonstration had developed into a serious riot, with a series of fierce hand-to-hand fights proceeding.

POLICE HELPLESS.

The police were rushed out to quell the disturbance but found the mob too much for them. The police were overwhelmed when they were themselves attacked, a number suffering injuries.

As the situation grew more and more ominous, a company of infantry from the Recruited Training School were ordered out.

The infantry were violently attacked by the demonstrators, who taking advantage of the reluctance of the officer in command to order his men to open fire, seized the rifles of the recruits.

The raw troops were obliged to retreat, the mob kept up the chase and finally ambushed the company.

AT CRITICAL MOMENT.

When the situation was critical, the troops were ordered to open fire with their machine-guns. They mowed down the rioters, killing three and wounding thirty. The remainder fled.

A tense situation still prevails.

DEATH-ROLL GROWS.

Geneva, Later.
The death-roll in the riot now totals eight.

It appears that the first detachment of troops had no cartridges, and that after they had been attacked another detachment rushed out, fully armed, and summoned the mob to disperse.

It is alleged that these troops did not make any attempt to fire over the heads of the crowd, but used their machine-guns to spray the square waist-high.—Reuter.

SWEET SIXTEEN

WOMAN'S REPLY TO MAGISTRATE

Particulars contained in the charge against one of eleven Chinese women and girls who were arrested yesterday for cutting wood in Taihang Valley, led Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court to-day enquire her age.

A burst of incredulous laughter followed the reply, the general conviction being that she had very much under-stated her age.

All eleven defendants were fined $5 each.

THE TYPHOON.

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone over South Japan has dispersed, and another appears to be developing over North China. The typhoon is situated about 200 miles E.S.E. of Manila, moving W.N.W. Local forecast:—N.E. Winds, moderate; fair.

CHINA AND THE ELECTION

INTEREST IN UNITED STATES

Shanghai, Nov. 10.
The election of Mr. Franklin Roosevelt as President of the United States is given considerable prominence in all the Chinese newspapers.

The Central Daily Press, in a leading article, says that judging from the past relations between China and the United States, the Chinese people and government are equally interested in American affairs as America is interested in the situation this side of the Pacific.

Such interest arises not merely from the economic relations of the two countries, but is due to a certain extent to a similarity of the ideals motivating the two sister Republics, as Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, owed many of his principal political ideas to American influence and association.—Reuter.

FINAL ELECTION FIGURES

HOOVER'S CHALLENGE TO LOW RECORD

THE NEXT CABINET

THE EXCITEMENT OF THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION has passed quickly in the absence of any spirited Republican resistance to the nation-wide swing. It is believed that President-Elect Franklin Roosevelt will call a special session of Congress in the early Spring to handle special legislation for dealing with the depression and unemployment. He will have the backing of a preponderantly-Democratic Congress.

Politicians are again discussing the composition of the next Cabinet. Mr. John Davis is strongly fancied as successor to the Secretary of State, Mr. H. L. Stimson; Mr. Owen D. Young will possibly become head of the Treasury Department; and jobs are certain to be found for Mr. Newton Baker and Mr. McAdoo. These will be the "Big Four" among Mr. Roosevelt's closest advisers.

STRONG DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS

New York, Nov. 9.
Mr. Franklin Roosevelt's victory in the presidential election was the most complete for forty years. It is now definitely known that the Democratic champion will receive 472 electoral college votes and that Mr. Hoover will secure 59.

The only time on record that a Republican candidate had received fewer electoral votes was in 1912 when the late President William Howard Taft received but eight. In that year, Theodore Roosevelt, founder of the Progressive or "Bull Moose" party, entered the race on the Progressive ticket and split the Republican Party in twain, the election being won by Woodrow Wilson.

The famous "Teddy," then an ex-president seeking what amounted to a third term, received 88 electoral college votes which were ordinarily Republican.

HOOPER TO LEAVE POLITICS.
President Hoover has indicated that he proposes to return to private life at the termination of his period in office on March 4th next. President-Elect Franklin Roosevelt, on assuming office, will be assured of ample support from Congress. The Democrats have captured both Houses with adequate majorities.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The composition of the new House of Representatives will be:
Democrats 241
Republicans 78
Still Doubtful 116

THE SENATE.
The composition of the new Senate will be:
Democrats 56
Republicans 34
Farmer-Labour 1
Still Doubtful 5

WORLD AT CROSS-ROAD

THE COMING ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

SUCCESS OR—DISASTER

London, Nov. 9.
The new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Percy Greenaway, drove in procession from the City to the Law Courts to-day, where he was presented to the Judges and made the statutory declaration of office. The pageant connected with the occasion was observed on traditional lines, and although the weather was dull and overcast, large crowds assembled to see the show.

This evening, the Lord Mayor's banquet was held in the Guildhall. Several Cabinet ministers, including Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who was the chief spokesman, attended.—British Wireless.

LAUSANNE TASK.

In a notable speech dealing with international affairs, Mr. Stanley Baldwin stressed the importance of completing the work commenced at Lausanne.

Britain, he declared, was most desirous of effecting world disarmament, but the time had now come for her to cease unilateral disarmament.

MUST SUCCEED.

The auspicious proceedings at Lausanne and Ottawa made one trust that the great forthcoming world economic conference would find a solution to world problems. He expressed the firm conviction that failure at Ottawa would have prejudiced the success of the world conference and that failure of the world conference would mean disaster.—Reuter, and British Wireless.

COMPANIES LAW OPPOSITION

OBJECTION LIKELY IN COUNCIL

We understand that opposition to certain provisions of the Companies Ordinance is likely to be forthcoming at this afternoon's meeting of the Legislative Council, when the Bill comes up for consideration.

It is contended in certain quarters that some of the requirements of the Bill, which consolidates the whole local law on companies, cannot be applied to Hongkong without considerable inconvenience.

The Government, however, is likely to press for the passing of the Bill to-day.

CHINESE TRADE INVOICES

SOME CONCESSION

London, Nov. 9.
In the House of Commons, Sir John Simon, replying to Mr. W. Nunn (Con., Whitehaven) said as a result of representations to the Chinese Government, concessions had been made providing for a considerable period of grace in furnishing consular invoices in respect of goods shipped from Britain to China.

The Chinese Government had already taken steps to increase its consular representatives in Britain. The situation would be closely watched with regard to its effect on British trade, and further representations would be made to the Chinese Government if necessary.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

It is now disclosed that ten were killed and forty-one wounded in the machine-gun shooting at Geneva.—Reuter.

HOOVER STATES

Only six States, with a total electoral vote of 59, remained loyal to President Hoover, as follows:

Connecticut	8
New Hampshire	4
Pennsylvania	36

PHENIUS QUITE SAFE

TAKEN IN TOW BY WARSHIP

HAD BEEN MOVING UNDER OWN STEAM

Colon, Nov. 9.
The Blue Funnel cargo-steamer, Phenius, regarding which so much anxiety has been felt for the past two or three days, is safe at last. A wireless message received here stated that the vessel has been taken in tow by a United States Navy vessel.—Reuter.

London, Nov. 10.
The owners of the S.S. Phenius, the Ocean Steamship Company of Liverpool, have received a message from the master, Captain D.C.L. Evans, stating that temporary repairs have been effected and the Phenius is now proceeding to Jamaica under her own steam.

HEAVY LIST.

"The ship is safe and the crew are well," says the message, which adds that the master is anxious for assistance as the Phenius has a heavy starboard list. The stability of the vessel is good and he is confident of the safety of the ship.

It is presumed that this message was received prior to the arrival of the American warship which is reported to have taken the Phenius in tow.—Reuter.

The Earl of Inchcape has been appointed President of the P. and O. Banking Corporation in succession to his father.

TRADE TRICKS PROTEST

BRITISH GOVT.'S ADVICE

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Nov. 9.

Attempts to foist foreign manufactures upon consumers in Britain and elsewhere as British goods, by the employment of false marks or labels, or by imitating the goods and wrappings of well-known British manufacturers have been the subject of representations by the British Government.

It was disclosed in the House of Commons to-day by Major Colville, the Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, that numerous instances had been brought to the attention of the Government and that protests had been lodged with the Japanese and other governments.

Major Colville gave an assurance that any further cases brought to his notice would most certainly be taken up.

He told questioners, however, that while adequate protection could be afforded in Great Britain and in the British Colonies and Dominions, designs and trade marks ought to be registered in the countries where protection is desired and legal action taken in the case of infringement.

PRINCE CHEERED AT OXFORD

URGES THE STUDY OF LANGUAGES

London, Nov. 9.
University undergraduates and townspeople of Oxford accorded the Prince of Wales a cordial reception when he visited the city to-day to open the new 240,000 extension of the Taylorian Institution, which is a monument to the life-work of the former mill-hand, Sir Joseph Wright, who rose to be a scholar of international repute.

In a speech, the Prince stressed the importance of a better knowledge of languages in view of the ever-growing intercourse between nations and the keen competition in foreign trade.

The Prince took luncheon at Worcester College and later drove through cheering crowds to his old college, Magdalen, where he opened a new quadrangle and library. To-night he dined in the hall at Magdalen.—British Wireless.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

A Singleton ace is often a very valuable card, but at times it is a detriment rather than a help. The following hand was played recently in a duplicate match, and North's singleton ace of clubs proved a stumbling-block to many players.

The Bidding.

Most of the South players opened with one club, although some preferred to bid no trump to show a very strong hand with all four suits stopped. In either case North bid and re-bid diamonds, because of the freakish distribution of his hand. A few pairs reached a five diamond contract, which was defeated one trick, but most of them played it at three no trump with South the declarer.

The Play.

In every case West opened the jack of spades and declarer won in his own hand, but from this point the play differed considerably.

One declarer boldly led out the ace and queen of diamonds, hoping that suit would be evenly divided and that the ace of clubs would serve as an entry to bring in the rest of the suit in dummy.

He was defeated two tricks, because West shifted to a heart and the opponents were able to make two diamonds, three hearts and the king of clubs.

Another declarer led a small club to the ace and attempted to re-enter his own hand by finessing the queen of diamonds. When the finesse lost, West led a heart and the declarer was again defeated.

One of the few players to play the hand correctly was Mrs. Anne Rosenfeld.

After winning the first spade trick she realized that the clubs must be established immediately. The lone ace in dummy really postponed the establishment of the suit for one round, and she was desperately afraid of a heart shift before the clubs could be set up.

Accordingly, she led the king of spades and discarded the troublesome ace of clubs on it. It was then a very simple matter to establish the clubs while holding top cards in the other three suits.

The result was that Mrs. Rosenfeld lost only one club, one heart, and one diamond, fulfilling her three no trump contract with an overtrick.

$39,000 REALIZED FOR
BONHAM ROAD LOT

A valuable leasehold property now known as No. 77, Bonham Road, was sold by Mr. L. E. Lammert, by order of the Court, at his auction rooms yesterday. The purchaser of the property, Mr. Chan Kui, bought it for $39,000. Bidding started at $37,000 and rose by bids of $500.

The property consists of all that piece or parcel of ground situate at Victoria, Hongkong, and registered in the Land Office as Subsection 7 of Section C of Inland Lot No. 753, together with all messuages or tenements, erections and buildings thereon, now known as No. 77, Bonham Road.

RADIO TALK ON AUSTRALIA

PROFESSOR BROWN "ON THE AIR"

RECENT TOUR

Professor Walter Brown, of the Hongkong University, recently toured Australia and paid particular attention to the western half. Last night through the microphone of ZBW he gave his impressions of the country.

"Before dealing with Western Australia in particular," said Prof. Brown, "I should like to make a few general remarks about Australia as a whole."

Australia is a large place—almost exactly equal in area to the United States of America. It is described sometimes as the largest island in the world and sometimes as the smallest continent.

It presents a great variety of interests, geographical, geological, biological and human. And to British people here in Hongkong, it has the added interest of being the nearest large region occupied almost exclusively by people of British origin, and therefore also exhibiting most of the familiar features of our own particular brand of western civilisation.

Beyond doubt, the most important part of Australia is its eastern margin, especially the south-east. There, the earliest European settlements were made, and there to-day we find the densest population and the most mature development. The names of the chief eastern cities—Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Adelaide are familiar to all. And few people are unaware of the gold, wool grain and timber industries of Eastern Australia.

But western Australia is relatively an unknown region, not merely to the people outside Australia, but even to the inhabitants of the Eastern Australian states themselves. This marked separation is due to the fact that the great middle portion of Australia is very largely desert, incapable, except in odd corners, of supporting any settled white population, and until the construction of the transcontinental railway, forming almost a complete barrier between the eastern and western extremities.

Rainless Areas.

Australia has some very attractive features, but it also suffers badly from several incurable disabilities. It lies across those degrees of latitude which, all over the globe, tend to be rainless. Most of the world's deserts include the regions between 20 and 30 degrees North or South latitude. If the whole vast island could be dragged 10 degrees further south its climate would benefit enormously.

Then the Australian coast is singularly uniform devoid of large gulfs by which rain-bearing winds might reach the interior and also, by which communications might be facilitated. Finally, some great mountain ranges, had they existed in the interior, would have had a very beneficial effect on the climate.

Western Australia, in particular, is a vast region of almost 1,000,000 square miles—almost equal in area to the United Kingdom, Scandinavia, Germany, France and Italy combined. It has no very important inlets, not a single first-class natural harbour, no navigable rivers and, except in the south-west corner, a deficient and unreliable rainfall. It is perhaps no wonder that more than a century after European settlement began, this enormous territory has to-day a population of only some 450,000, and nearly all of that is concentrated in the small but greatly favoured region in the extreme south-west.

It may be of interest to mention, in passing, that I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. "Texan" Green, M.I.R. for all West Australia except the south-western corner surrounding Perth. He claims to have the largest political constituency in the world—about 800,000 square miles.

Perth, the capital, has over 200,000 inhabitants or nearly half the State's total. In the Mother Country itself, so highly centralised and urbanised, the abnormally large city of Greater London represents only some 17 or 18 per cent. of the total population. And it is surely quite astonishing to find this excessive urbanisation in a "new" land where one would rather expect to find the country dominating the town and rural industries predominating over civic.

Journey Experiences.

I entered the Australian continent from the west, travelling from south-east Java by a small vessel. I confess I received a mild shock when as a holder of a first-class ticket, I was conducted to the ninth berth in a 10-berth cabin! Yet, when I knew the vessel better, I came to the conclusion that I had

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN HALL, accused ASPER DELO, timber king of crooked practices and of having men shot who try to check up on his activities. Hall says he is making a check for cattle interests. Upon leaving Hall's office Hall says DONA, Asper's daughter, from kidnappers. Learning her name, he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERS loves Dona. He agrees to make Asper give up the wild idea of going to Three Rivers and running Hall of the company property. Dona goes with him. They find a manhunt in progress with Hall as the objective. Asper is badly wounded from ambush but cannot be kept in bed. Dudley produces a marriage certificate that they had been prevented from using by Dona's being unsure of herself. They tell Asper they are married. Hall overhears this announcement, while in for food. He is caught by SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss who have been a leading figure in the hunt. Hall is taken to a cabin while Swergin goes out to gather a mob for a lynching. He surprises his captor and escapes.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The moon had flooded the very last patch of timber on the upper reaches of Folly Mountain. Dudley stood on the bottom step and looked up at Dona. His handsome mouth had widened in a smile of indulgence. Dona could not see his eyes because of the shadows but she was sure they held a flickering hunter at her hesitancy. After all, Dona had publicly announced that she was his wife. And she was a modern girl—the slender, active beauty who could ride, play tennis and swim, yet who could grace a luxurious easy chair with tantalizing languor.

"Hates to give up her freedom," Dudley thought to himself.

"I won't give up!" Dona told herself, but she arose and allowed Dudley to slip an arm around her.

"We must stop in and see Dad," she said aloud.

Dudley gave her a little squeeze but Dona pulled away from him.

They found Asper awake and apparently waiting for them. "I should think you love birds would be freezing!" he greeted them.

"We've been watching the moon uncover Folly Mountain," Dona said in a low voice and her words sounded strangely tight.

"Just a bit of night air," Dudley grinned.

"Well, run along now. It's getting late. Time for an old fellow like me to get some sleep." Asper's eyes held a hint of moisture.

Dona bent and kissed him. "You're not an old fellow, Dad! And, as your nurse, it's my duty to take care of you. Is there anything you want?"

"Not a thing. You're not to bother about me. I'm going to sleep like a spruce log tonight. Won't wake up a single time." Asper closed his eyes and settled back against the pillows.

"Well, then—good night." Dona took her father's hand and gave it a final squeeze.

Dudley caught her arm and led her from the room. Outside the girl halted. Noiselessly she closed the door behind her.

"I'll move, my things to your room," Dudley spoke with a tone of mastery he had never dared use before.

"You can't do that!" "Why not?" Dudley demanded. "We're married, aren't we?"

"You know we're not married," Dona flushed. "We will have to go down to Seth Doby's and find Sam Denn before we can be married." "I never thought you'd stick for all that bunk!" Dudley was beginning to be impatient.

"Well, you know it now!" She could not keep an edge from her voice.

"All right. We'll drive down there to-night."

"You know I won't leave Dad." The girl felt she was gaining ground.

"You won't be able to put this over," Dudley warned her.

Dona took a step toward him. "Dad, please be good to me! I know I'm a little fool but I want everything to be right. You will, won't you?"

He frowned sulkily. "I'm the fool, I guess," he growled and turned on his heel.

Dona watched him go to his room. He shut the door with a snap and did not look back. She sighed and again slipped out into the moonlight. In the shelter of the cherry brush at the end of the building she sank down and gave herself up to her emotions. A shadowy form on the hillside caused her to make an effort at control. A man was coming toward her. She could see that he was tall and slender. With a little gasp Dona fled around the corner.

She did not want to return to her room so she wandered down to the corral. There she found Malloy, silently smoking a cigarette and gazing out into the night. He nodded to her but did not speak. Dona climbed up beside him and sat with her chin in her hands. She wanted to ask the silent cowboy a question. It was on the tip of her tongue when a man came running down the hill.

Malloy did not make a move to get down from his perch though the approaching man was evidently very excited. A flare of moonlight splashing through the uncut spruce revealed their hurried visitor. Swergin, hatless and angry, was approaching.

"Get out the men. Saddle up all the horses!" he shouted.

Malloy did not move but he did give a shrill whistle that brought two men from the shadow of a wall. "Hear what the boss says?" he drawled.

The men scattered to rouse the rest of the camp. Swergin halted before the two on the fence. "Get down from there and get busy on them horses!" Swergin bellowed. He did not seem to see Dona.

Malloy slid from his perch into the corral. Wild excitement broke loose. Men ran about saddling up while Swergin shouted orders. Ball had visited the camp and was close in. Every man was to use his rifle. The bandit was to be run down. Dona sat watching the picture. She wished the hunters luck but she did not move to join them. Why she could not have told.

The corral was a swirl of dust. Riders galloped out through the open gate and thundered up the slope. Swergin was the last to go. Dona had not climbed down from the fence. Now she looked about and saw, with a start, that Malloy was again seated beside her, smoking calmly.

MOONLIGHT, a picturesque mountain camp, a pretty girl and a dashing cowboy. With such romantic elements of course there's a love story in "Call of the West" by R. G. Montgomery. There's adventure and excitement too in this thrilling new serial.

"Why didn't you go?" she demanded.

"There's enough men up in that scrub timber to capture an army—let alone one man," Malloy answered, blowing a ring of smoke out from under his wide hat.

"If you don't want to be loyal and help run this murderer why don't you quit?" Dona spoke sharply.

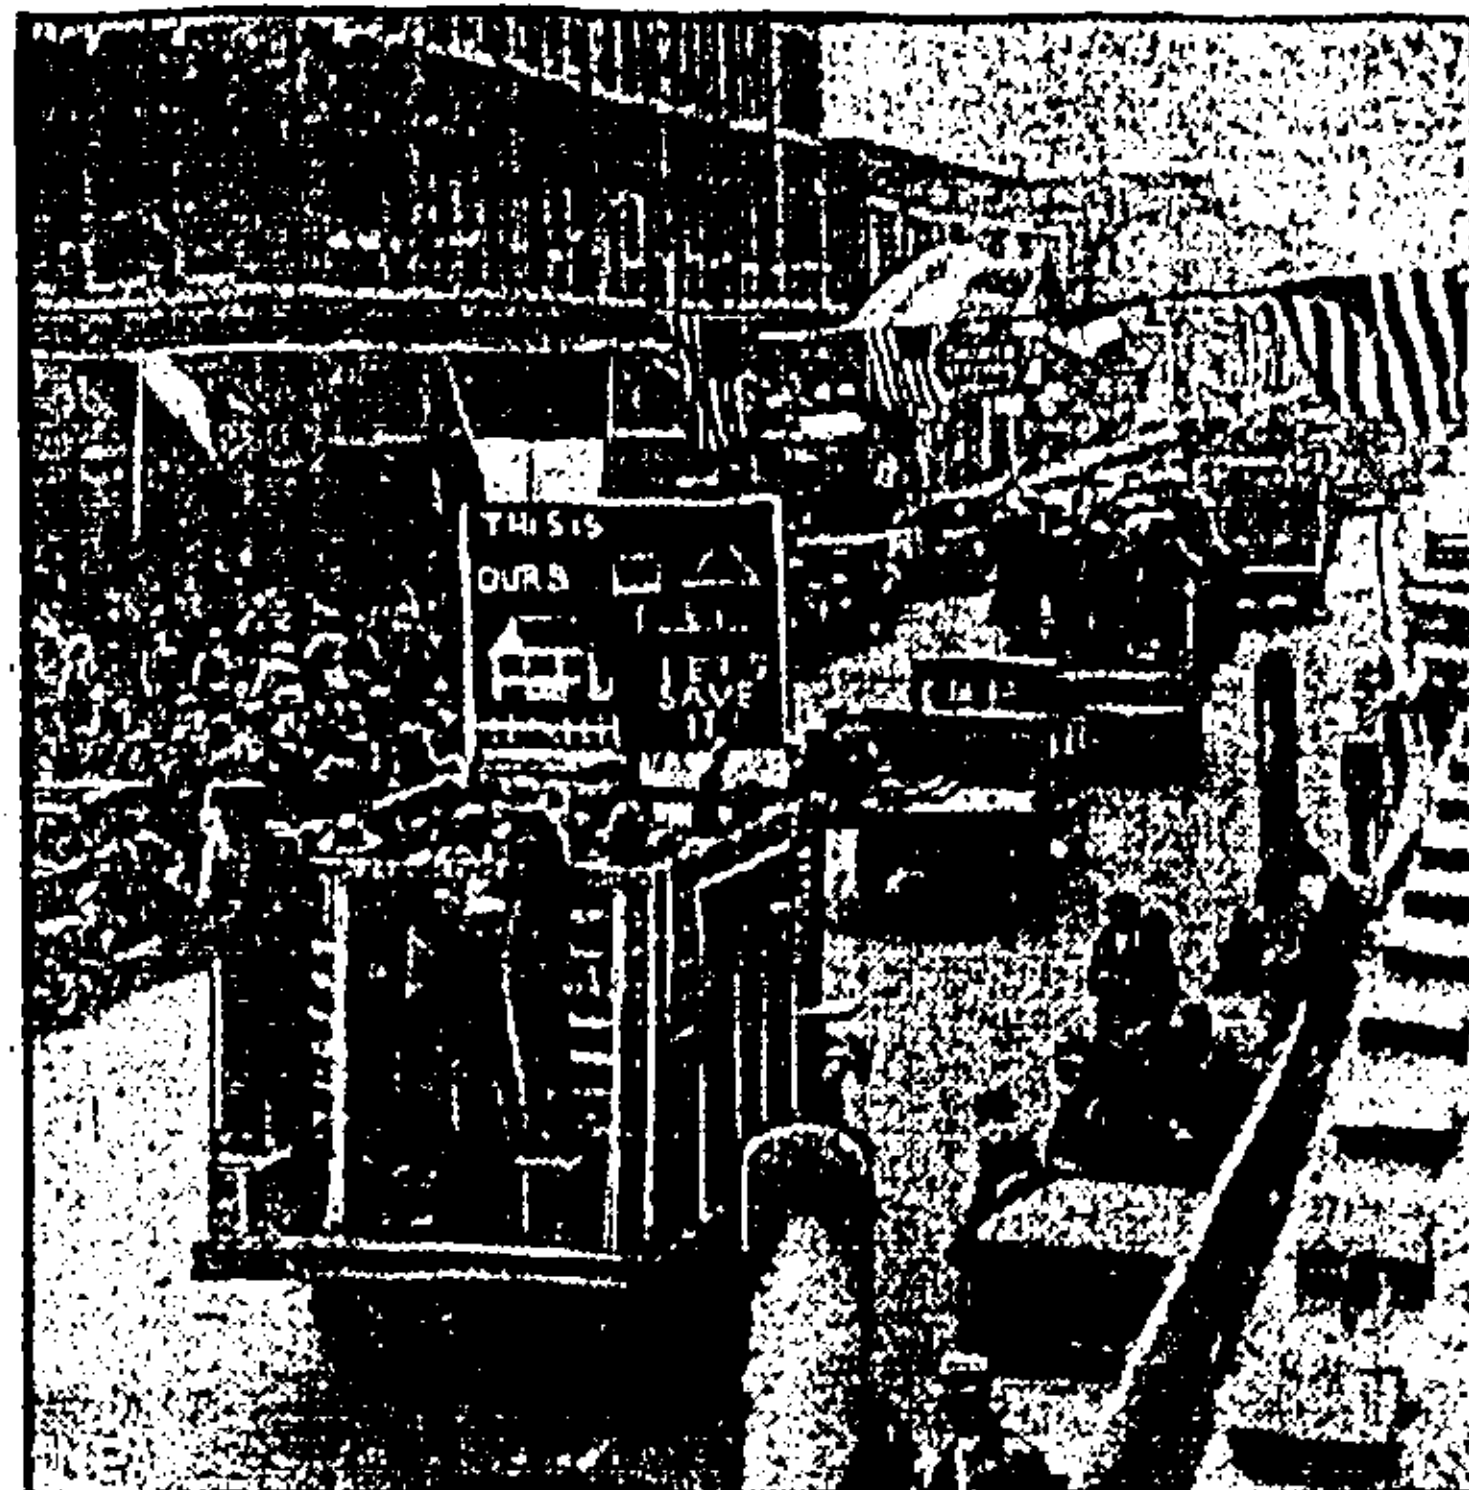

"I reckon as how I will quit one of these days. Yes, soon as I get square with this outfit I'll haul my freight," Malloy drawled.

"If my father owes you anything you can get it at once," Dona flared. "I aim to collect when I get ready," Malloy's grin was wide and he tossed the butt of his cigarette far from him. It lay there glowing in the dew-drenched grass.

"Will you saddle my roan for me?" Dona demanded. Her ques-

HOW TO WHITEN YOUR TEETH... NO MORE USELESS BRUSHING

Use this simple technique that actually removes yellow and stain... teeth whiten 3 shades in 3 days

Like millions of others she has been fooled. Fooled into thinking that dull, offensive teeth are an affliction she must endure because ordinary brushing has failed to make them white and attractive. Don't you make this mistake. Just use a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush twice a day and see the difference in 3 days.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

By Joan Savoy

Comfort and style are going around together this autumn. Browns, blacks and tans have always led the coat parade. They harmonize with a greater number of gayer colours than more distinctive colourings do.

Therefore the brown suit, of tweed, at the left, will be at home when the sports crowds gather. It is made of a brown and white flecked mixture, and follows the popular style that features a three-quarter length coat and sensible skirt. It has wide pockets into which hands slip easily and a large fur collar. The coat, which is fashioned from a black and tan tweed, moulds the body, flaring slightly below the knees. The sleeves are interesting, with a bit of a raglan effect. The large collar of Okita fox adds a luxurious touch.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Lotions Help to Curl Hair.

The days when small girls were told to eat bread crusts in order to make their hair curl are things of the past. Today there are curling lotions which are supposed to work the same sort of charm. There is one that does the trick easily and simply, if you give it time.

The curling fluid is a colouress, thin preparation that comes in a bottle. It isn't sticky. It isn't oily. It is easy to apply.

If you have never used it shampoo your hair the night that you begin. Dry it carefully, using your fingers as drying agents. Don't use artificial heat or a blow-dry. Now part your hair and apply the fluid to your scalp and the roots of your hair. Saturate thoroughly. When this is done, work the liquid through your hair. Make sure that every strand receives its share of the lotion. Just in case you may have missed a few of them, spray on the fluid with the atomizer that comes with the preparation.

If you are trying to coax your own hair into ringlets it will be necessary to use your fingers to press in a wave. If you are working on a child's hair this isn't necessary. The natural curliness which children have is a carefree sort of thing.

Use the hair curler every night. After the first shampoo you will need to wash your hair only at the regular time that you have already established for this rite. Don't think that your hair will curl into the wavy, soft lines that you want, if you use the fluid one night, and miss the next night. It will probably require three months—maybe a little more—until you have a curly or wavy head, of the type of which you have dreamed.

Before using this, or any other preparation, make sure, of course, that your scalp is healthy and normal. Most of these curlers happen to be entirely harmless, but they will do safer, better work on a healthy head of hair.

In addition to promoting curls, they contain tonic qualities that are beneficial.—ALICE HART.

"MARRYING MEN THEY DISLIKE."

"Women have been known to marry men they very much dislike." The above startling statement, uttered by one of our High Court Judges, says a writer in a Home Journal, indicated such a seemingly suicidal policy, that I have been seeking for the reasons that have led to such marriages, and, in probing into that most unfathomable of depths, a woman's motive, have found the following:—

One such marriage was contracted by a girl out of sheer despair. Bored and angry from another affair, she accepted the first man who afterwards proposed.

Another reason was a woman's intense longing for a home of her own, her inborn desire to be settled, strengthened by disillusionment in her business career. A man, distasteful to her, being the only one available, was married as a means to her end!

Some Reasons

Then the very persistence of some men's devotion has led to other marriages, for adoration has such a wonderful way of raising a woman's self-esteem, of preventing her from feeling negligible, that in spite of personal dislike, something in her innermost being occasionally rouses to acquiescent response.

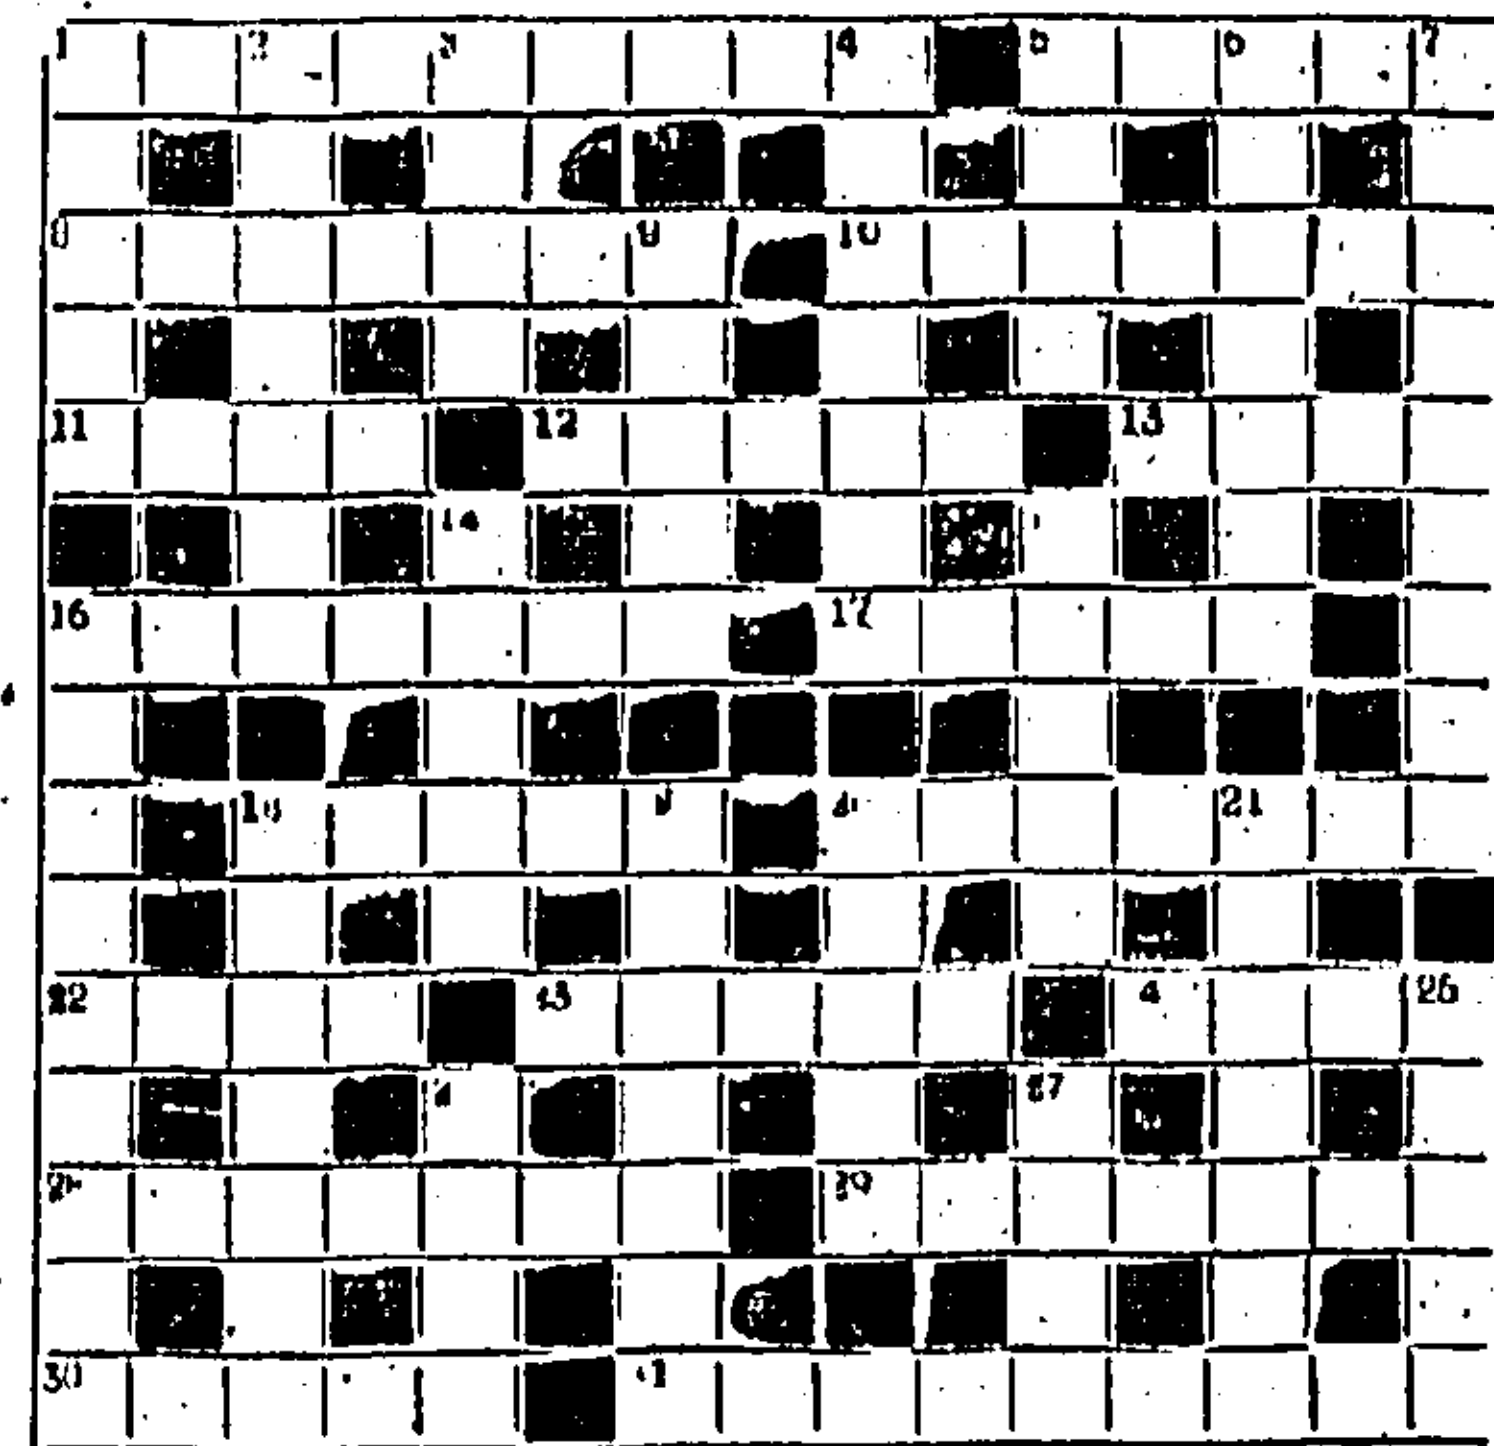

Here are some of the reasons. And the result? Well! So queer and incomprehensible is woman, so strange a thing is life that these inauspicious marriages not infrequently have been crowned with greater success than falls always to the lot of love matchings.

Cupid is a blindfolded little god, and his victims have equal shortness of vision. Undeciding in her love, woman mounts her idol on a peak impossibly high and narrow for the permanent stance of any mortal man—and end, slip therefrom means a heartbreak afresh.

But a man disliked starts on such a lowly plane that he cannot descend further. Any movement, therefore, must be in an upward direction, and even should he remain on his humble level there is no bitterness or disappointment, for nothing else was expected of him.

Here, however, woman's innate need for contentment with her own possessions, and her enviable facility for achieving that happy name, steps in, and, once the man is here, unconsciously she sets to work and discovers in him all manner of good points, some, maybe imaginary, but others real enough, though formerly hidden from her by her antipathy.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1932.

ROOSEVELT WINS

Expectations have been amply fulfilled by the success of Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, in the United States presidential election. Thus, after twelve years of Republican rule, America has decided to give the other party the opportunity of controlling the destinies of the nation. Even in normal conditions, a swing of the pendulum might have been expected; the world depression has served to intensify that tendency. Actually, the popular vote is an indictment of the Republican policies in grappling with the crisis. It now remains to be seen whether the Democrats will make any deeper or more effectual impression on the situation. The new incumbent of White House is a man of high integrity and undoubted ability; even his political opponents will concede that much. He will assume office under conditions of the greatest difficulty, but with the wishes of the whole world that his term of office may not only bring prosperity to his country, but also mark an era of collaboration with other nations in tasks which are common to all.

The policies for which Mr. Roosevelt stand present many striking contrasts with those of the Republicans. On Prohibition, the Democrats are definitely committed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, so that the way is now all clear for abandonment of this experiment and the wiping out of the evils and abuses which have accompanied it. Turning to the chief issue with which the Government will have to deal—the depression still so apparent—Mr. Roosevelt is on record as favouring a policy broad enough to include every part of the economic structure, including the improvement of the condition of "the little fellow at the bottom of the pyramid," as against the Hoover programme which, he contends, was framed for the benefit of the man at the top. On this issue, the Democrats have been criticised by their foes on the basis that Mr. Roosevelt's campaign statements have been somewhat vague, the attack being directed against his ideas of economic recovery, based largely on the restoration of the purchasing power of the masses by methods which have not been too clearly explained. Time will tell, however, how far doubts along these lines are justified.

Perhaps of more interest than any other aspect of the Democratic policy is that which favours a new conception of the tariff based not on Congressional log-rolling or supposedly scientific schedules, but on negotiation of tariff agreements between nations for reciprocal exchange of goods, this for the purpose of ending the worldwide tariff war and restoring foreign trade. Here, at any rate, the Roosevelt ideas are promising. In regard to unemployment, the President-Elect is opposed to the "dole," and for the present emergency he favours State and local relief measures, although for a permanent system he inclines to some form of unemployment insurance in which both workers and employers contribute. In this connection, it may be noted that as Governor of New York State he fostered a move for a fifty per cent. increase in the State's income tax, designed to provide a $20,000,000 unemployment fund to finance supplementary public works, and, when no work was available, food, clothing and shelter—but no cash "dole." Two other matters of internal policy may be mentioned. Mr. Roosevelt stands for strict Government control of utilities, both as to rates and financing, and for governmental operation in cases where satisfactory conditions for private operation cannot be obtained; while on the question of farm relief he favours "permanent settlement," instead of attempting price stabilisation methods like those on which the Federal Farm Board has lost two hundred million dollars since 1929.

On foreign relations, the Democrats have followed a line favouring collection of war debts owing to America, but it is probable that this attitude has largely been influenced by campaigning considerations, and that eventually some more helpful attitude on this thorny issue will develop. Mr. Roosevelt certainly has a big opportunity of contributing along liberal lines to the solution of this and other world problems. As Governor of New York State, he has held an executive job surpassed in importance only by the Presidency itself. His fine record in that office augurs well for his occupancy of White House.

Poppy Day.

The lasting good which has been done by the British Legion thanks to the response of Britons throughout the world to the annual Remembrance Day appeal serves as a stimulant to greater effort. The necessity for an energetic continuance of the manifold activities of the Legion receives emphasis every minute of each day that the world-wide industrial depression lasts, and we feel sure we may take it for granted that Hongkong will pay as generously as it possibly can to-morrow in support of this worthy cause. The bulk of the funds at the disposal of the Legion is annually allocated to the Relief Fund, grants are made to all societies aiding ex-Service men and other monies are devoted to special activities such as the employment department, which has 3,000 branches in England with committees of voluntary workers actively engaged in canvassing employers on behalf of unemployed ex-Service men. During the past year, the Legion has placed in employment through its own machinery some 17,000 men. It is a remarkable fact that while the figures of unemployed for the country have increased by leaps and bounds, the number of ex-Service men placed in new jobs has increased by no less than 7,000 as compared with the figures for the previous year. Every member of the Legion is expected to play his part by being on the look-out for vacancies and all lend a hand in endeavouring to lift their less fortunate comrades out of the ruck of unemployment. This is only one aspect, perhaps a rather small one, of the Legion's work. It is, however, illustrative of the excellent management of the Poppy Day Fund which has brought comfort and renewed hope to innumerable ex-Service families. The British Legion occupies an important position in the benevolent life of Britain and deserves all the support it can obtain.

THIS MAN ROOSEVELT

By ROBERT TALLEY

Four years ago New York offered to the United States as a presidential candidate a governor who had been born amid the poverty of Manhattan's East Side, grown up as a newsboy on the sidewalks of New York and worked at his first job in the smelly precincts of the Fulton fish market. That governor, of course, was Alfred E. Smith.

Yesterday the state of New York offered for the same high office another governor, who was born of one of the first families of the country, reared in the lap of luxury, educated by private tutors and at Harvard and whose wedding was attended by a president of the United States.

Such is the colourful contrast in the lives of the two most recent Democratic candidates and between whom a Damon-and-Pythias friendship existed for nearly 20 years.

Fifty years old, tall, broad-shouldered, deep-chested and blessed with a winning smile, President-Elect Franklin Roosevelt has been one of the busiest men in America.

His average day begins at 8 a.m. when he wakes, breakfasts in bed and the newspapers are brought to him to read.

After going over his personal mail with a stenographer, he dons a dressing gown and rises to greet political associates.

At 10 his round of appointments begins. There is time for lunch, served at his desk—and then the series of conferences is resumed until 5 p.m.

He goes home, swims for 15 minutes in a private pool, takes a short nap and then dresses for dinner. There are always dinner guests—from five to 26 in number.

After dinner, he reads the newspapers, works on speeches, messages and pardon applications and then piles into bed to read detective stories until midnight.

The story of the Roosevelts in New York—meaning the governor's ancestors—goes back to the year 1644 when Claes Martenszen van Roosevelt and his brothers came over from Holland and settled along the Hudson river.

From this line came President Theodore Roosevelt, a fifth cousin of Franklin Roosevelt, and also Franklin's wife, formerly Miss Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. She was a niece of the president and her husband's sixth cousin.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt and Anna Eleanor Roosevelt were married at his father's fashionable New York City home in 1905, President Roosevelt attended the ceremony and gave away the bride. One of the bridesmaids was Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

"Well," said the famous Teddy as he beamed on his distant cousin and his young niece, "I'm glad you are keeping the name in the family, anyway."

On the 500-acre Dutchess county estate of his father—who was vice president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad—Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born on Jan. 30, 1882.

Amid wealth and plenty, the boy grew to young manhood. He had French and German governesses and private tutors, spent his vacations at his father's summer home in Maine.

His earliest recollection concerns a storm at sea while returning from a visit to Europe with his parents on the White Star liner Germanic.

As Franklin Roosevelt grew older, he spent several summers touring Europe on a bicycle with a private tutor.

Later, he went to Groton, a fashionable school for boys. In 1900, he entered Harvard at the age of 16. He played football on the freshman team, rowed with the freshman crew and became editor of the Crimson.

After he was graduated from Harvard in 1904 he was married the following March while attending Columbia University law school. At the close of the school year, he and his bride went to Europe on a belated honeymoon.

In 1910, Roosevelt gave up the practice of law to run for the Senate of New York State. He campaigned in a motorcar a novelty in those days, won the farmers on a platform that called, among other things, for standardized apple barrels, and was elected.

Roosevelt had hardly entered the Legislature when he began his famous fight against "Blue-eyed Billy" Sheehan, Buffalo Democratic boss, who was Tammany Hall's candidate for United States senator. Roosevelt charged that Sheehan was too close to "the interests."

Defying Tammany, he organized a filibuster which held out for many weeks and finally defeated Sheehan.

In the Legislature, Roosevelt met Al Smith, who had come up from New York as an assemblyman and the long friendship between them began.

In March, 1913, President Wilson appointed Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy under Secretary Josephus Daniels.

He held this post throughout the World War, handling most of the navy's huge purchases of supplies.

In 1920, Roosevelt was nominated as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, made the campaign with Cox and went down to defeat in the Harding landslide.

Less than a year later—in August, 1921—Roosevelt suffered the great tragedy of his life. He was spending his vacation at his summer home near Campobello, and had gone for a swim. Returning, he sat down in his wet bathing suit to read his mail.

That night he was taken ill. By morning, he was paralyzed from the hips down. Doctors pronounced it infantile paralysis. From that day to this he has been a cripple.

He spent weary months as an invalid before he regained even the partial use of his limbs. Gradually, however, improvement came. He began to walk with the aid of leg braces and crutches, then a pair of canes. Today, he uses only one cane.

Except for leaving him a cripple, the malady has not affected him. He is in excellent health to-day and as the result of a great deal of swimming—an exercise that the doctors prescribe—he has a chest expansion greater than that of Jack Dempsey. Two years ago, life insurance companies issued him $500,000 insurance at the regular rate.

In 1924, Roosevelt appeared on crutches at Madison Square Garden and made the speech that placed Al Smith's name before the delegates.

Four years later, leaning heavily on two canes, he did the same thing for his old friend at Houston.

In 1920, he had seconded Smith and Smith had seconded him for the vice presidential nomination at San Francisco.

In 1928, when Smith was running for the presidency, he asked Roosevelt to run for governor of New York. After hesitating because of his physical condition, Roosevelt finally consented.

He won and two years later he was elected for his second term, which will expire on Jan. 1, 1933.

Whilst driving public car No. 135 in Des Voeux Road Central yesterday, shortly after noon, Kong San, the licensed driver, knocked down a nine-year-old girl, Kong Tai-nan, who was removed to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from a fractured right leg.

"But if we buy a new car right now, what will the chauffeur think, after those salary cuts?"

BRITISH TRADE IN SCANDINAVIADELEGATIONS TO PAY VISIT

London, Nov. 9. In the House of Commons, Colonel Colville, Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, announced that, following upon the British Exhibition at Copenhagen, a delegation representative of the British iron and steel industry will, at the invitation of Danish industrial interests, visit Denmark in order to have discussions with Danish purchasers. The delegation will also visit Sweden and Norway for discussions with the iron and steel interests in those countries.

It was also announced that after discussions with Mr. Ernest Brown, Secretary for Mines, a delegation representing the United Kingdom coal industry and including prominent colliery and coal exporters, will similarly visit Denmark for discussions with Danish coal interests.

A further delegation representing the United Kingdom cattle food trade will also visit Denmark for discussions with Danish interests. All the delegations will arrive in Copenhagen towards the end of November.—British Wireless.

CANTON CEMENT
UNDERTAKINGSAID TO BE LITTLE GOLD MINE

Canton, Nov. 9. Among the public works and undertakings under the management of the Provincial or Municipal Government, the Saichuen Government Cement works have already proved to be a little gold mine. The daily output of cement is about 1,400 barrels, although the contract with the Danish firm, F. L. Smith & Co., stipulated for only 1,200 barrels per day. Cement is sold at the Works for $10 per barrel, and averaging the cost per barrel at $6, profit of $4 means $5,600 on the daily turnover.

Already the Saichuen product has become very popular with contractors. The demand for it is increasing to such an extent that the Government is seriously contemplating adding a further unit to the plant.

The quality of the Saichuen cement was officially tested as follows:—Tensile strength after 3 days 360-370 lbs. per sq. in.; after seven days, 420 lbs.—Central Press.

ANOTHER BRIDGE FOR CANTONLINKING UP WITH HONAM

Canton, Nov. 9. The Municipal Government is taking steps to construct another bridge across the Canton River between the Bund at Tai Ping Road South and Ou Chow New Street in Honam suburb, the two points being separated by about 500 feet. It is learned that the Municipal Bureau of Public Works is soundly of the opinion that the crossing and is determining the nature of the river bed prior to the design of a bridge.

This part of the Bund is a very busy section of the city, and its connexion with Honam suburb by a bridge will facilitate communications. At present the crossing is made possible by small boats and a motor ferry.

The Wai Sun Bridge further east on the Bund will be opened to traffic on January 1 with facilities for pedestrians and motor traffic.—Central Press.

THE FUTURE OF AVIATIONGOVERNMENT NOT TO BE DRAWN

London, Nov. 9. In the House of Commons the Prime Minister was asked whether the Government were in a position to announce a decision regarding the proposal for the abolition of all naval and military aviation and the internationalisation of civil aviation.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald replied that the debate on disarmament in the House of Commons tomorrow would take part, but the Government proposals must be duly formulated and presented to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva under conditions which he has already explained in the Commons last Wednesday.—British Wireless.

RECENT MURDER
SEQUELBROTHER APPEARS IN THE DOCK

Extensive police investigations into a recent murder, revealed as a result of the discovery of the mutilated body of a Chinese, have culminated in the arrest of three men, one of whom is alleged to be a brother of the deceased man.

The machinery of the local Criminal Investigation Department was set in motion when, early on the morning of September 24, the strangled, mutilated body of Lam Kam-tsun was found on the Victoria-Jubilee Road at Pokfulam. The man had been murdered and a heavy stone dropped on the head to prevent identification.

The police discovered certain clues which led them to arrest Lam Kam-shek, who is believed to be a brother of the deceased man. Lam Kam-shek, aged 54, was alleged to have procured Chan Kau, aged 19, and Lam Fuk-lung (the latter stated to be an adopted son), to commit the crime.

The three men were brought before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court this morning, the elderly man charged with procuring the murder of the deceased and the other two with murder.

Mr. P. M. Hodgson represented Lam Kam-shek, the other two being unrepresented.

On the application of the police, the defendants were formally remanded for one week.

POSED AS POLICE OFFICERALLEGATION AGAINST YOUTH

Charges of impersonating a police officer and of obtaining $12.60 from a Chinese woman as a result of such impersonation, were brought against an unemployed youth before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court this morning.

In asking for a remand until next week, Inspector F. Shaftain, attached to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, remarked that they were investigating further cases and there was a possibility of other charges being brought against the defendant.

The defendant, continued the officer, had posed generally as a detective and had offered the complainant protection against somebody who was trying to break into her house. It was probable that the evidence would reveal that the defendant himself was the man who was trying to break into the complainant's house.

His Worship adjourned the case until next Tuesday.

GENERALSIR WM. SALMOND PASSES AWAY

London, Nov. 9. Major General Sir William Salmond, who died yesterday aged 92 years, was the father of two famous airmen, namely, Air Chief Marshal Sir John Salmond, Chief of the Air Staff, and Air Marshal Sir Geoffrey Salmond, Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief the Air Defence of Britain.

Sir William, who was educated at the R.M.A. Woolwich, entered the Royal Engineers as a Lieutenant in 1857, and retired from the Army in 1902. During his lengthy career, he filled many important posts. He served in the Egyptian campaign in 1882 and also in the South African War. In 1899, he was granted a Distinguished Service reward of £100 per annum.—British Wireless.

BOMBED HOUSE

JUDGE ESCAPES SACCO-VANETTI AVENGERS.

Worcester (Mass.), Sept. 27. A bomb explosion early to-day wrecked the home of Judge Webster Thayer, who five years ago sentenced to death Sacco and Van-zetti on a charge of murder.

The judge, who was asleep at the time of the explosion, escaped uninjured from the ruins of his house, but Mrs. Thayer, who was buried under the debris, received severe cuts and suffered badly from shock. A girl employed in the house was also injured.

The whole city was shaken by the explosion, and neighbours who ran to the wrecked house found Judge Thayer groping blindly about his wrecked bedroom.

When he recovered from the shock he said with a smile, "They can't kill me that easily."

The police are convinced that the bombing was in revenge for the execution of Sacco and Van-zetti.

Judge Thayer has been denounced from scores of Communist platforms all over the world, and has been more bitterly caricatured than any other judge.

To-day's explosion is the 15th bomb outrage attributed to the Sacco-Vanzetti executions, others including attempts to blow up American Embassies in cities as far distant as Buenos Ayres and Paris.

TRAGIC RACE FOR WORK

TWO MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES.

The story of a race to obtain work by two men, which ended in tragedy, was told at the inquest at Rostrevor on Patrick McLoughlin and Patrick McAteer, two Newry men, who were drowned in Carlingford Lough through the capsizing of a row-boat.

The men were cousins, and they went to Killowen to be the first to sight a schooner entering Carlingford Lough so that they could board her and secure a job in discharging the vessel.

The men got in a dinghy off Killowen shore and had got well on their way to the schooner when they suddenly found themselves forestalled by a motor-boat which put rival workers on board.

The cousins then turned to row back to shore, but their boat filled and both men fell into the water. The crew of the motor-boat that won the race to the schooner afterwards rushed to the scene and recovered both men, but artificial respiration was unsuccessful.

The coroner said the tragedy was a peculiarly sad one, as the men lost their lives in search of work.

A verdict of "Accidental Death" was returned.

LORD SNOWDEN

MEMOIRS WITH "FIRE-SIDE TOUCH"

Lord Snowden has decided to write his memoirs.

He feels he has knowledge of certain events both within and outside the Labour movement that nobody else possesses, and he has scant respect for those biographies of prominent people written by virtual strangers from too little intimate knowledge.

He agrees with the saying: "No man can write of another who has not known him by his own fireside." So, like a forthright Yorkshireman he has decided to do the job himself.

No Diary

He has not yet begun work on the volumes. He has never kept a diary—a fact he sometimes regrets—and he anticipates that it will take him at least a year to collect and arrange his material, of which he has a vast amount.

At least another year, and perhaps more, will be required for the actual writing. He uses portable typewriters, of which he has two or three.

He has been suffering from a bad cold, and has been confined to bed.

lately small space to the pre-election campaign in the United States. Its content has been inclined towards satire, since Soviet public opinion has been trained to smile at all "democratic" activities.

There is a widespread conviction that some step toward adjusting relations with the Soviet Union may be expected from Washington after the new administration is inaugurated.

The American elections coincided almost exactly with the fifteenth anniversary of the Soviet revolution. The coincidence seems to underline what some call the "obduracy" of the American government in refusing to recognize a regime which has been in existence a decade and a half.

UNDERGRADS WIN EASILY.Combined Schools Defeated By Five Wickets.

ANDERSON BOWLS WELL.

Entertaining a Combined Schools XI at Pokfulam yesterday, the University 1st XI scored an easy win over the school-boys by five wickets. The visitors had first use of the wickets and after losing their first man for only one run, went on to score 130, due mainly to A. J. Hulce (20), J. Sharpam (22) and D. Blake (28). Donald Anderson was the most successful bowler for the undergraduates, his figures being five for 18.

Losing two for 26, the University replied with 204 for seven, with L. T. Ride (45), A. T. Nomanbhoy (58) and F. R. Zimmer (50) as their principal run-getters.

RELICS OF WITCHES' TIMES

DISCOVERED IN A COFFIN

Budapest, Sept. 21.

A strange find has been made in Nagykoros, where the site of an old cemetery is being levelled for building.

A coffin containing an ancient form of tongs has been unearthed, and no traces exist that any corpse was ever buried in it. As the tongs have been found to hold a rusty iron heart in its teeth, and as the site is not far from the place where witches were burned in the seventeenth century, it is believed that the tongs and the iron heart are relics of the witch-burning period.

In the forest near the town of Dombovar a shepherd has found a shepherd's horn, which is believed to have been the property of Joska Sobri, one of the most famous "Betyars"—or highwaymen—who terrorised the Hungarian Plain in the nineteenth century.

The horn is an ox horn, 85 centimetres long, and the lower end is beautifully engraved with flower motifs.

TURKISH LANDMARK

AN ANCIENT BRIDGE TO DISAPPEAR

Constantinople, Sept. 20.

Old post-cards still on sale usually represent, under the name of the Galata Bridge, a picturesque, uneven, wooden bridge on which a band of irregular firemen is shown running in vividly coloured attire. When, a short time before the War, a German firm erected the new iron bridge, the old one was transferred a few hundred yards farther inside the Golden Horn, connecting the Stambul side with Kassim Pasha, the ancient seat of the famous arsenal.

For some years past a scheme has been under preparation for its replacement by an up-to-date bridge. There has been so much argument as to how it should be built that it gradually fell into a state of decay, until a short time ago it had to be definitely closed to traffic.

One million liras have now been accumulated for building the bridge. Its actual cost will, of course, be much higher, but the numerous foreign firms which repeatedly have submitted offers are ready to grant long-term conditions.

CHINA MERCHANTS

NANKING'S RESUMPTION SCHEME ANNOUNCED

Nanking, Nov. 9. A scheme for management of the China Merchants Steam Navigation Co., the leading Chinese enterprise of this kind, was disclosed at the seventy-fifth session of the Executive Yuan yesterday afternoon, with Mr. T. V. Soong presiding.

The Finance Minister announced that the Finance and Communications Ministries would be charged with the working out of a general scheme for taking over the China Merchants Steam Navigation Co. and the Government would repay all the shareholders of this Company at the rate of 75.50 per share, basing the rate on the average quotation for the last three years, which worked out at approximately 75.30 per share.

The National Government would recognise all the outstanding debts of the China Merchants. The management would be further reorganised.

Mr. Soong's resumption scheme will be sent to the Central Political Council for its final sanction.

Business with South.

The China Merchants S.N. Co. which made an enormous profit during the World War of 1914 due to the great reduction of foreign vessels operating along the China coast, has undergone a prolonged adverse period in recent years, primarily due to the constant commandeering by the military of its vessels for troops movements.

It has a branch office in Hongkong and branch offices or agencies in all coastal ports. The number of vessels plying between the Kwangtung ports and Hongkong and North China has been decreased considerably in the last three years owing to a shortage of ships.

The Interport Probables

Selection of Team Good Although Rather Provocative

(By "Veritas")

In view of the teams chosen for the various trials, the Probable Interport XI to visit Shanghai, selected by the committee to meet the Rest of the Colony on Friday contains very few surprises.

Nevertheless it seems that the selectors were in a somewhat provocative frame of mind when they made their decision. For a trial match they put Suen Kam-shun at inside left and Wong Mee-shun at inside right to all intents and purposes with the idea of discovering whether they were suitable for those positions, and turn round an hour later and give them entirely new places in the Probable team.

Thus we find Shun chosen to operate at inside left and Wong at centre-half. Presumably the selectors feel these players are sufficiently versatile successfully to fill any position on the field, and possibly they are perfectly correct, but the procedure strikes one as curious.

Taking due cognisance of all circumstances, however, the team should be able to give quite a good account of itself. They will be up against a stiff proposition tomorrow and if they emerge successful can go to Shanghai with a fair amount of confidence.

RODGER'S REWARD

There will be no discussion concerning the selection of Rodger, both as custodian and skipper of the side. He has proved his worth as keeper of the citadel time and again, and his wide knowledge and experience will stand him in good stead in carrying out the duties of captaincy.

Mullane, in view of his consistent performances in the trials and league matches this season assured himself of the right back position and Strange, providing he has completely recovered from his injury is natural choice for right back.

The inclusion of Bliss will be generally received with satisfaction, although I repeat what I contended yesterday, he would be far more useful at left than right half.

The selection of Wong Mee-shun at centre-half is certainly an unexpected move in view of the trials, but it has to be remembered that this is his normal position. Certainly I know of no more capable player in Hongkong at the present to fill this important job of work, and the forwards can be fairly assured of an adequate supply of opening-up passes.

DUNCAN'S JOB

Andy Duncan is a good selection if the selectors have in mind a spoiler only. He is certainly a great worker and a most tenacious tackler. If he can but remember to take his time in distributing the ball, keeping it low and directing it with care, he will prove an acquisition to the team.

The selectors apparently did not take too seriously the sudden fall from grace on Tuesday of B. Gosano, and in this direction, perhaps they will be fully justified. But he must show an improvement. In the last three matches he has been completely off colour and such loss of form, although perhaps only temporary, has to be seriously considered. It is to be sincerely hoped that he regains his old cleverness and speed, for on his day there is not a better wingman in the Colony.

UNCOURAGEOUS

Suen will make an excellent partner for him, but I venture to think the selectors allowed their courage to fall them at the last moment in choosing Howe over the head of Johnson for the centre forward position.

Johnson in the last trial played fine forceful football, the type of stuff which keeps a pair of backs in anxiety. Johnson may not be the perfect leader, but I feel his game is more suited to Interport football than Howe's artistic touches which may, or may not, get the team anywhere.

The confidence displayed in Jones of the Borderers is welcome, for he

BAD TACTICS ON PART OF KOWLOON SCRUM

EASY VICTORY FOR CLUB

The Club "A" fifteen were full value for their victory at the expense of Kowloon at the Valley yesterday, winning by 11 points to nil after enjoying a pronounced superiority throughout the game. Both sides started with one or two players short, but a few minutes of play saw the teams completed. The Club pack very quickly got into their stride and displayed their all-round superiority, particularly in the tight scrums, where McElroy easily mastered the opposition hooker. The Club too held a big advantage on the line-outs where Munro's great height continually robbed Kowloon of any chances of securing the ball.

The early stages of the game saw the ball repeatedly heeled, but it was noticeable that passing movements of big promise were constantly being ruined by a ludicrously bad pass after the ball had been worked down the field.

Lowson must be blamed for many of these and he was further guilty of a great deal of running across the field. In other respects he gave a good account of himself.

THE SCORING

A nice passing movement half way through the initial period saw King score a try in the corner from one of the very few chances given him. Rigg made a good shot at goal, which just failed.

Shortly afterwards Harbord, who has shown excellent form on the wing in the last few matches, scored a good try which Rigg converted with a splendid kick. The interval arrived with the Club leading 8 points to nil.

The second half saw the Club maintain their superiority up forward, with McElroy, Munro and Cox always prominent. If the backs had rested content with orthodox passing and backing up a heavy must score must have resulted. As it was, the only additional points came from a try scored by Harbord, which brought the home side's tally up to eleven.

THE PLAYERS

On the Kowloon side Easterbrook was a most reliable full back, his fielding, kicking and

MORE INCONVENIENCE OVER VENUE

Owing to a mistake in the arrangement of fixtures by the Football Association, the Club rugby XV is again put to the inconvenience of having to transfer its game on Saturday from Happy Valley to Sookunpo, where the Army authorities have kindly allowed the game to be played.

The match will start at 4.15 p.m., and the Club will be without Dr. Selby who is in hospital. Peers, who was hurt last week, Robertson and Burch who are on the injured list and Bradford and Kerr, who are rowing, will also be absentees, but McElroy and Jenkins return to the side which will be—lacking all being good. There was little merit in the play of the other defenders, apart from a splendid run by Ferguson, who bent several opponents in a run of 50 yards before being well and truly tackled by McElroy.

S. J. H. Fox, J. J. Ferguson, A. F. Jenkins, R. H. Griffiths, G. P. Lammer, M. W. Turner, M. N. Macintosh, A. R. Cox, D. McElroy, J. C. Miller, A. P. Hall Thompson, A. E. Munro, S. H. Garrod, J. H. McElroy, G. C. Moutrie. Reserves:—Rigg and Merry.

Torrible would be definitely good if he were not so obsessed with the desire to score over the referee.

FAULTY PASSING RUINS GOOD MOVEMENTS

MATCH REVIEWED BY "FLY-HALF"

Of the pack, the less said the better. They will always remain ragged until some of them learn to leave the tackling to the leader and get down to real solid scrummaging. Forwards, whose sole thought is to play to the gallery are of no use, particularly to a side which is trying to find its feet.

This, I should hasten to point out, is a general criticism, and does not, of course, apply to all the forwards.

The teams were: Club:—Fox, King, Rigg, Jenkins, Harbord, Lowson, Munro, McIntosh, Cox, Cochrane, Dalziel, Nigel, Carrod, McElroy, Andrews. Kowloon:—Easterbrook, Ferguson, Whitley, Shaw, Owen Davies, Peart, Tirroble, Watson, Gurevitch, Pryor, Wilson, McNider, In Roche, Brokenshire, Cozan.

Mr. McLellan was referee.

NAVY BEATEN

BORDERERS GAIN SURPRISE WIN

With a few changes in their line-up of last Saturday the Royal Navy held quite a strong team against the formidable South Wales Borderers fifteen at Sookunpo yesterday afternoon and were beaten by eleven points to three after a game full of thrills.

The Navy were playing one forward short, fielding fourteen players all told, and as a result were heavily handicapped. Their weight in the scrums was greatly diminished and they were constantly beaten for possession of the ball. However, they gallantly held the military team in the first half, although the Borderers opened the scoring with a goal before the half time the Navy scored a try to make matters even again.

In the second half the Navy players felt the strain and were hard pressed by the Borderers, who broke through to take the lead with a well positioned try which, however, was not converted. Shortly afterwards the soldiers showed further dash and again crossed the line to give them another five points from a converted try.

WATER POLO WIN FOR "Y"

MEDWAY STOKERS WELL BEATEN

Campbell, the prominent army swimmer, played a leading part in the success of the Y.M.C.A. against the Medway stokers in a water polo match in the "Y" bath yesterday, when the home side won by 6 goals to one.

Campbell netted three times, and was a constant source of danger to the sailors' defence. The "Y", although definitely the stronger side, did not completely dominate the game, and the Medway deserved to register more than a single goal.

The "Young Men" made the most of their opportunities in the first half at the end of which period they had piled up a four goals lead.

The Medway held their own after changing ends, but found themselves up against a sound defence.

In addition to Campbell's three, Sutherland, Fowler and Henry netted for the Y.M., whilst Buchanan replied for the visitors.

CLUB LOSE POOR GAME

MEDIOCRE HOCKEY AGAINST S.W.B.

FORWARDS ABJECT FAILURE

(By "Bully Off")

I was keenly disappointed in the display of the Club and the South Wales Borderers when the teams met in a return match on the U.S.R.C. ground yesterday. In view of their having gained a 7-1 victory over the soldiers in the previous game one would naturally expect the Club to have at least held their opponents to a draw, but the Borderers, by dogged perseverance and determination, turned the tables and broke the Club's unbeaten record with a one-nil victory. Neither side showed true to their capabilities and play throughout was dull and uninteresting.

There was a general reshuffling of both teams compared with their composition when they met on the last occasion. Absent from the Club side was A.A. Dand, captain and centre-half, and Rodger at right-back. Dand was injured in the game last week between the Club and the Medway officers and has not yet sufficiently recovered to re-appear in the side. His place at centre-half was filled by W.A. Reed, whose customary position is right-half, while A.E.P. Guest was brought in to fill the position vacated by Reed. H.J.D. Lowe deputised for Rodger.

DUNCAN'S CUSTODIANSHIP

As usual, G. Duncan played a splendid game in goal and received full measure of support from the backs, Lowe and E.V.

SCOTLAND BEAT ENGLAND

London, Nov. 9. In an inter-league football match at Manchester to-day, Scotland repeated their achievement at the end of last season when they defeated England, winning by three goals to nil.

The game was played before 30,000 spectators, who saw Napier put the Scottish League team ahead in the first half. The same player and Dewar added further goals after the interval.

The English League last year headed the competition on goal average and recently defeated the Irish League. Out of the 38 games played with Scotland in this tournament, the English League have won 21, and lost 10.

REAR, although the former was inclined to be slow. Reed, in the centre of the intermediate line, rendered yeoman service and it must have been disheartening for him to see his efforts spilt by the forwards failing to make the most of the numerous opportunities he gave them. He played a very destructive game, breaking up many dangerous moves by the Borderers. The other halves, Guest and Potter, made the mistake of keeping too far back. The forwards were the weakest part of the team. They failed to combine effectively and did not make the most of their opportunities in front of goal. Lay, on the left, was right off form, whilst Tetley, on the other flank, failed to impress. The three inside men, Williams, Divott and Francis were all slower than usual and lacked finish.

PICK OF BORDERERS.

The Borderers were a greatly improved side compared with the form shown in the previous match, despite the fact that there was a re-arrangement in each line. McTherwell replaced Flynn between the sticks and when tested saved well. Walton, moved to right back from his position in the half line in place of Capt. Smithers, and was supported on the left by Pole, who, if he maintains his present form will probably be representing the Army in that position during the Sim Shield competition. Lieut. Cresswell played a magnificent game at centre-half, using his long reach to advantage.

Dykes fell back from inside left to take the place vacated by Walton and Davis appeared on the right. Lieut. Martin was replaced by L. Cpl. Jones on the right wing, the inside position being again taken by Lieut. Tyler. Pte Johnson was the pick of the forwards as leader of the attack, and was served on the left by Pte Jones, in the place of Dykes and Dettall who deputised for L.Cpl. Smith.

THE PLAY

Play in the first half was very scrappy and the exchanges were more or less even. The game fluctuated and at the interval no scores were registered. Determined efforts on the part of the Borderers gave the club goal many anxious moments in the second half and Duncan did well to save several shots sent in by Johnson. They opened the scoring soon after the re-start through Johnson, when Lowe misjudged the ball and it glanced off his stick and went behind him. Johnson nipped in before he could turn and sent in a shot which struck Duncan's pad and rebounded into play. Johnson, taking a first time shot, gave the Borderers the goal which lowered the club's colours. Until the end the club tried hard to get an equaliser, with Divott showing up prominently in many of the moves.

MAMAK FRIENDLY GAMES.

The Kowloon Indians gained their first point in the Mamak Tournament yesterday when they shared honours in a goalless draw with the 20th Battery on the U.S.R.C. ground.

The "Varsity" in a friendly game with a Medway XI, on the R.N. O.S.C. ground won by three goals to nil. Scorers for the winners were K.T. Loke, A.M. Rodriguez and A.J. Basto.

INTRA-CLUB GAME.

An enjoyable hockey match was played yesterday between members of the Shamrock Sports Club, resulting in a win for whites. Although Von Esen was not playing, I am glad to state that he has practically recovered from his recent hurt, and will no doubt be turning out again shortly.—Our Own Correspondent.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

The warm-hearted reception given Una Merkel by film fans in her less than two years of screen work is a tribute that has been here since she was a girl in her teens. As a young Sunday school teacher in Covington, Kentucky, the young star who appears with Joan Bennett and Spencer Tracy in the Fox dramatic romance "She Wanted a Millionaire" opening at the Oriental Theatre to-day, earned the praise, trust and friendship of the parents of her pupils.

Miss Merkel's role in "She Wanted a Millionaire" which John Hyatt directed from William Anthony McGuire's screen play is that of a hard-boiled, sophisticated newspaper reporter and the humorous touch she gives to the role is said to be one of the highlights of the picture.

"Sunshine Susie," now showing at the King's Theatre, you may enter the picture theatres with the usual heap of cutes perched on your shoulder, but you'll discover that those cutes vanish instantly at Susie's magic touch. There is a something about the picture that radiates happiness; that makes you feel that life is, after all, really worth living. It may be Jack Hulbert's irresistible fooling for those scenes in the beer-garden are surely the funniest ever devised—but above all, there is the sunny personality of the star herself, a personality destined to be remembered long after the film has reached its happy conclusion.

"Sunshine Susie" brings to the screen the most captivating of German musical comedy actresses Miss Renate Muller, who sings and acts delightfully, and who has Personality with a capital P. Filmgoers will be hearing much more of this fascinating blonde before very long. Jack Hulbert, also, has the finest role of his career in that of Herr Hasel, the bank commissionaire who conducts a beer-garden choir in his leisure, and whose songs and antics yield hilarity in fullest measure. His "choir" by the way is one of the quaintest collection of types ever assembled in a film.

"Cracked Nuts." "Paris is considered by many the style headquarters of the world. But nothing can be further from the truth!" This is the opinion of Ethel Smallwood, Radio Pictures' fashion designer under the supervision of Max Ree, art director. "Where a handful of fashionable women ape the styles of Paris, million dollars worth of clothes by motion picture costumes. This is because film styles are carried direct to people in thousands of cities within a month after they are created." The latest creations of Miss Smallwood's nimble fingers and brain were those for Dorothy Lee, Leni Stengel and Edna May Oliver in Radio Pictures' "Cracked Nuts," showing from Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. They reveal an ultra modern taste combined with practicality and economy. Miss Lee wears three different and distinctive afternoon frocks—blue crepe, with embroidered sailor motif; crepe print with brown organdie trimming; and a nude-colored pressed chiffon trimmed with lace. She is particularly fetching in grey print chiffon worn with Matheson flower jewellery. One of her afternoon frocks is old rose with lace trim, worn with coral jewellery. The vampish Miss Stengel also is fascinating in widow's weeds of black montane crepe, white velvet and black fox fur. Her street dress consists of two-toned tan montane crepe with gold jewellery. Edna May Oliver is seen in red crepe pyjamas, and orchid velvet, hand-blocked negligee; a green Elizabeth crepe garden dress and uniform.

THE DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE

MR. HOOVER SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

New York, Nov. 9. Incomplete returns indicate that Mr. Roosevelt may expect 453 electoral votes and Mr. Hoover 78. A Republican landslide is evidenced by the fact that by 4.30 p.m. G.M.T. Mr. Roosevelt was leading in 38 States, carrying 434 electoral votes, while Mr. Hoover was ahead in only six States with 70 votes.—Reuter.

Congratulations

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 9. Mr. Hoover has prepared a message congratulating Mr. Roosevelt on his victory.

Mr. Hoover has telegraphed to Mr. Roosevelt as follows: "I congratulate you on the opportunity which has come to you to be of service to your country. I wish you a very successful administration. In the common purpose of all of us I shall dedicate myself to every possible helpful effort."—Reuter.

Blind Resentment

New York, Nov. 8. Mr. Hoover has been swept out of the White House by the blind resentment of millions of Americans who are suffering from hard times, also to his somewhat uninspiring personality and complete lack of histrionic ability as compared with Mr. Roosevelt, and the latter's very able publicity.

Undoubtedly many thousands of "wet" Republicans have been alienated by Mr. Hoover's ambiguous attitude toward prohibition. The worldwide result of Mr. Roosevelt's election is not likely to be very noticeable: it is improbable that there will be any drastic reduction in the United States tariff. Both parties officially oppose the cancellation of War Debts but are willing to consider a readjustment in return for facilities in connexion with United

BAN ON CEMENT.

REMARKABLE ACTION IN CANTON

The Municipal Bureau of Public Works at Canton has issued a notification announcing that the entry into the city and the sale therein of Green Island cement is banned. It is alleged in the Canton Gazette that such decision has been the outcome of tests on the cement, which has been found "to be not up to the required standard" and therefore not to be used for building purposes in the city!

States exports by debtor nations. Mr. Roosevelt may be expected to continue Mr. Hoover's policy of limited co-operation with the League of Nations on Disarmament, the prevention of war, and the restoration of the economic health of the world.

With regard to Prohibition Mr. Roosevelt will not hinder the revision of the Volstead Act for beer.

He is expected to be a sympathizer with the claim of the unemployed for Federal relief.—Reuter.

No Change Likely

Peiping, Nov. 9. When informed by Reuter of Roosevelt's election, Mr. C. C. Wu evinced little surprise, adding that it was a foregone conclusion. Questioned regarding the possible effect of the election on American foreign policy, particularly with reference to the Far East, he replied "All I can say is that a change in president does not necessarily mean a change in foreign policy."

Although the Democrats are known for not having as strong a foreign policy as the Republicans yet, it was a Democratic President who brought the United States into the Great War.

Mr. Wu stressed that the foreign policy regarding the Far East was not an issue of the recent campaign, saying that one guess was as good as another regarding Roosevelt's attitude.—Reuter's Special.

1930	10,052,040	$18,662,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	$118,614	$122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,565	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825
						$373,905	$269,141
							373,905

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930 $ 6,532,660.00
1931 $13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value, and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders' Meeting, February 29th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working, I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interest. As our balance sheets show quite plainly, the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security, the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

Safeguarding YOUR INVESTMENT!

The natural laws of economics require an investor to secure the best return especially upon savings—trust funds—consistent with safety.

The China Realty Company is one of the oldest (established more than 20 years) real estate companies in Shanghai with a steady successful record back of it.

Capital $5,000,000 fully paid in cash.

Business turnover 1931, $45,632,300 in and mortgages only, which does not include management of estates, rent collections, insurance written, trustees for beneficial owners of property and sundry sources of income.

The Company are Realtors, not speculators in Real Estate.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1931 shows:—

Assets $12,341,726.31
Land and Buildings at cost 3,351,055.84
Cash 1,844,259.11

Mortgages on Real Estate held by Company Dec. 31, 1931 $5,971,200
Total Debenture issue Dec. 31, 1931 4,840,700
by which it will be noted that all of the proceeds from Debentures are invested in Mortgages and $1,131,500 of the Company's capital.

In the past twenty years the Company has negotiated more than one hundred million Taels in mortgages; all of which has been repaid, principal with interest.

POPPY DAY APPEAL

OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL TO GIVE DONATIONS

To-morrow is Armistice Day, the day of remembrance, when the street sale of poppies in aid of Earl Haig's Fund will be carried out by many willing helpers. It gives an opportunity for all to contribute their bit, additional to subscriptions to the general fund or at subsequent auctions and other functions. The street sales of these flowers of remembrance have always had good results in the Colony, the public responding readily and a substantial sum being raised. It is unfortunate that economic depression has affected some of the collections, and the lower rate of exchange has resulted in the remittance in the past few years appearing less than they would be if the old rate prevailed. At one time Hongkong stood quite high in the list of contributions from all parts of the Empire. It is possible to attain that position again, or even surpass it. Indeed, the local body who are appealing for funds hope that all who give donations will make an effort to give a little more this time, so as to make up for the loss on exchange.

An Urgent Need.

This is also a time when the people who benefit from the Fund—the war-maimed, the disabled and their dependants—are likely to require help more urgently than ever. The unemployment and general distress throughout the world has had repercussions in Britain which this year have become greatly intensified, and there must be many whose only means of livelihood has been lost, and who will need additional assistance from the funds collected on their behalf.

The report on Earl Haig's Fund for last year shows that over four and a half million pounds sterling has been collected in eleven years. It is a fine record, and one that must be maintained. As the report comments—"It is a movement which has the sympathy and support of all British people, irrespective of class, religion or politics. All are at one when it concerns Poppy Day, which is a common endeavour to help those who suffered in a common cause."

The totals since the Fund was inaugurated show a steady increase year by year, and despite the economic distress in 1931 the total was nearly on the same level as it had been since 1928, namely, £501,082 for England, Wales, Ireland and Overseas, and £73,593 for Scotland.

Hongkong's Part.

The collection from Hongkong and Outports last year was $1,223-10-10. From the Colony of Hongkong alone the sum of $16,275-52 cts. was sent, which does not include a substantial amount sent direct to the Scottish fund. The street sale of poppies realized approximately $5,700. It is hoped that these amounts will be surpassed this year.

In May last, the organisation suffered a severe loss in the burning of the British Legion poppy warehouse at King's Cross. Approximately 20,000,000 poppies were destroyed, in addition to quantities of wreaths and other material. It is hoped that by increased sums being paid for the poppies purchased this year, the loss will be made up.

CHARGE AGAINST A SWISS.

ALLEGED CONSENT BY THE COMPLAINANT

The Police Magistrate (Mr. Schofield) yesterday reserved decision in the case of Henri Urmi, Swiss motor mechanic, who was charged with indecent assault on Cheng Wan, a 20 year old Chinese girl.

Mr. MacKinnon, who appeared for the defendant, submitted that there was no case to answer. "Before my client can be made to answer this charge," he said, "the prosecution must adduce evidence that the assault was against the girl's wishes."

The Police Magistrate ruled that there was evidence dealing with consent.

The defendant was placed in the box, and the Court cleared. He said that at 10 o'clock on October 14 he was driving along Leighton Hill Road towards the Sookunpoo football grounds. The complainant was walking along the road. Witness had seen her in Tin Lok Lane 10 minutes before. A European was then following her. In Leighton Hill Road she was with three or four young Chinese. He stopped his car and opened the door.

The girl got in, and intimated that she wanted to be taken to North Point. She spoke half in English and half in Chinese.

Witness described the incidents which followed, and declared that what happened was with the girl's entire consent.

His Worship said that he thought there seemed little doubt that the accused's story must be accepted as it stood. He thought that Urmi had gone farther than the girl desired.

After further discussion, his Worship intimated that he would require a little time to consider the case and the fact whether there should be any conviction at all.

Decision was adjourned until Saturday morning.

AUSTRALIAN SAILORS IN BAY DEMONSTRATION

London, Nov. 9.
Two hundred ratings of the Australian navy walked ashore at Melbourne to-night from the warships moored at the pier and held a meeting of protest against the reduction of pay, under the Financial Emergency Act.
The officers urged the men not to do anything that might suggest mutiny, but some of the spokesmen for the sailors threatened that unless their grievances were remedied definite action would be taken by 3,000 ratings.
As a result of the meeting the men formed a welfare committee and, induced by their leaders, returned to their ships, which are due to sail for Jervis Bay in the morning.—Our Own Correspondent.

Concessions Increased.

Canberra, Nov. 9.
Following a protest meeting of 200 naval ratings at Melbourne against a reduction in pay under the Financial Emergency Act and at which spokesmen threatened action by 3,000 ratings unless the grievances were remedied, a Government recommendation to the Naval Board has decided to increase the travelling concessions to ratings going and returning on leave and also the child endowment of nine and an eighth to sterling, which is the rate paid the public service employees.

There will also be an increase in the daily rations allowance
from 15 to 27 pence.

The warships sailed from Melbourne without further incident.

BENCH'S PATERNAL WARNING.

TO MIDNIGHT PROWLER IN PREMIER'S HOME

London, Nov. 9.
The Hampstead Magistrate today addressed 18-year-old Ivan Seruya in severe paternal language before leniently binding him over in the sole surety of his mother to behave properly for two years.

The police reported that Seruya was an ardent Communist and that his room was plastered with Communist matter and Soviet badges.

Seruya's lawyer said accused was studying for a chemist's degree at the Royal College of Science. After attending a meeting at Trafalgar Square, he decided on his way home to smash the windows of the Premier's house, thinking it was empty.

Seruya was found at 3 a.m. in the garden of the Premier's home with stones in his hands.—Reuter.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT TO PROTECT POCKETS

London, Nov. 9.
A decree issued by the French Government compels all fliers across the Sahara to deposit with the Government 100,000 francs as security against the cost of sending French military machines in search of lost aviators, and to cover the possible cost of salvage.

An attempt to secure the waiving of the regulations in the case of Miss Amy Johnson (Mrs.
Mollison), who is leaving on a flight to the Cape to-morrow, failed.—Our Own Correspondent.

tion was punctuated by rifle shots
from the slope above.

Malloy gazed in the direction of the firing for a full minute, then he turned to face Dona. "No, I won't saddle up for you." His mouth was tight and his eyes glowed evenly.

"Then I'll saddle him myself."
Dona slid from the top pole.
"And I won't let you do that,"
Malloy spoke grimly.

"Why?" the girl snapped out the one word.

"There ain't no place up on that mountain for a girl tonight," Malloy replied simply.

"But I'm going to see that Ball is captured," Dona spoke firmly.

"He'll likely be killed," Malloy's voice had sunk to a hard drawl.

"Swergin will bring him in; he's a deputy sheriff." Something in the lank cowboy's words put Dona on the defensive.

"Swergin always packs a rope," Malloy drawled.

"You seem to think it funny to talk half-sense. Saddle my horse!
I'm going with those men." Dona stamped her little foot.

"Sorry, Ma'am, but I won't let you ride out tonight," Malloy placed his lank form in front of her as he spoke.

Dona tried to pass him but he pushed her back. "If I have to do it I can pack you up the hill!" he warned.

Realizing that he meant just what he said, Dona gave in. But she did not return to her room. Malloy seemed disturbed by this and sat watching her grimly. From up the slope came the thunder of hoofs. A group of the riders were returning.

They were crowded close together and travelling at a trot. Malloy slid from the fence.

"You run on to bed," he ordered gruffly. His voice was anxious in spite of its drawl.

Dona realized that he was trying to get her away before the men arrived. She was determined to stay to see what had happened. "You can't tell me what to do," she flared and stepped back from the open gate.

Malloy shrugged his shoulders and stood waiting. The men trotted up and as they came it was plain that the form of a man was lying limply across the saddle of the foremost rider.

POPULAR YOUTH.

MR. G. A. VIEIRA-RIBEIRO DIES AFTER ILLNESS

It is with great regret that we have to record the death of Mr.
Gustavo Augusto Vieira-Ribeiro,
son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Vieira-Ribeiro, at the French Hospital
yesterday morning.

The late Mr. Vieira-Ribeiro, who was only 20 years of age, had been in ailing health for sometime. He was formerly employed at the Hongkong Electric Company.

A prominent athlete in his school-days, the deceased was a popular member of the Club de Nautisme and the Victoria Recreation Club. He was also in the Hongkong Volunteers, being attached to the Portuguese Company
as a bugler.

Much sympathy will be extended to his parents and relatives in their bereavement.

The funeral took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. Many floral tributes were sent to the graveside.

NON-STOP voyage

TWO WORDS on your shipping instructions will save hours and days for you. The same two words will mean that your freight shipment to the United States will make a NON-STOP voyage.

The same two words will assure you that your freight will be well handled... and speedily placed on the cars
... when it arrives in port.

The two little words we speak of are to be written in indelible pencil right after the word "SHIP" on your shipping tickets. They are "VIA SEATTLE." Never forget them! They have saved time on millions of tons of freight each year... consigned from the Orient to the

probably, on the whole, the best bunk in the ship.

Our ports of call on the Australian coast were Dorby, Broome, Port Hedland, Cosack, Onslow, Carnarvon and Fremantle. A feature of this coastline, especially in the north-west is the great range of the tides. The typical little airport consists of a sandy bay of gentle slope with a jetty, built at considerable cost, not extending to deep water, but just far enough out to enable a vessel of very moderate draught to come alongside at high tide. At nearly all our ports therefore the ship was timed to arrive at or near the top of the tide, and regardless of the amount of business to handle, it had to wait approximately one or two rounds of the clock, sitting at ebb-tide high-and-dry on a vast expanse of sand or mud.

As you all know Java is a typically tropical island, with abundant rainfall, dense vegetation and huge population. It is only a short journey from there to the north-west corner of Australia, but the contrasts that await are most striking—barren coasts, bare rocky headlands, great sand dunes—vegetation scarce and population almost negligible.

These contrasts are not a question of quantity only. There is a definite change of type and character as well. Within a few hours of leaving Java we crossed the invisible biological frontier known as Wallace's Line (so called from the great naturalist, Alfred Russel Wallace), which divides Asia and Australia into two distinct biological provinces. This important line is usually shown as passing between Bali and Lombok, and through the Straits of Macassar. However, anyone who has landed in the town of Macassar in the south-west Celebes can recognise, without being a biologist that this frontier is not quite sharply drawn.

Distinctive Types.

In this region there is an obvious overlapping of the Asiatic and Australian types. Nevertheless, it is a matter of common knowledge that Australia has a very distinctive fauna and flora of its own—"marsupial" animals and "eucalypt" vegetation.

Broome, a pleasant township, is the G.H.Q. of the pearl fishing. In times of general depression the luxury trades are the first to suffer and the last to recover. The pearl fleet at Broome which normally numbers 300 or 400 vessels is now reduced to some 75 and these are none too prosperous. The luggermen are mostly manned by Japanese who are excellent divers but are given to taking undue risks in hopes of getting rich quick.

The first place that possessed the looks and amenities of a real town was Carnarvon and my one vivid recollection of it is the vast number of whales in the neighbouring waters of Shark's Bay. For two days the passengers spent most of their waking hours while gazing. We must have seen, in all several hundreds and their abundance was not more surprising than their apparent indifference to the presence of the ship. They gambolled all around, sometimes jumping clean out of the sea or remained with their heads down, wagging their tails in the air.

The city of Perth, capital of the State, is a very attractive place indeed. It has a fine situation on the lovely Swan River. It claims to have the finest climate in all

Australia and its public buildings, parks and gardens and general lay out are remarkably fine. The surroundings are beautiful, gently undulating with rich orchards and vineyards, and the regions not devoted to agriculture or horticulture are blessed with abundant green and shrubs and a perfectly astonishing variety of wild flowers of exceptional beauty.

Naturally, I was specially interested in the University of Western Australia which is almost the same age as the University of Hongkong. It possesses a splendid site and new buildings of a very imposing design. Best of all it has a comprehensive scheme of building for the future and this, when completed, will make it almost unique among the Universities of the Empire.

The Australian people are nothing, if not democratic and in the University of Perth, no fees are charged for tuition. This is an interesting experiment.

After a week's stay I tore myself away from Perth and travelled by train to the great gold mining centre of Kalgoorlie. But though I did not see it at its best, Kalgoorlie is a most interesting city with much to say for itself. It arose in the wilderness with dramatic suddenness, when gold was discovered in rich abundance. That was in 1863 and since then its fortunes have been very varied.

The "Golden Mile" to which the twin cities of Kalgoorlie and Boulder owe their fame and fortune has produced already some £170,000,000 worth of the precious metal.

Period of Prosperity.

For some years back the gold mining industry has suffered partial collapse. The causes were in part general and in part peculiar to Australia. At present, Kalgoorlie is enjoying a real, even if brief period of prosperity. This is due to two causes (i) the fact that Australia is off the gold standard and (ii) the general adoption of the flotation process for the extraction of the metal. The details of this special method do not lend themselves to popular discussion, and in any case I am no metallurgist, but the chief feature is the segregation of the minute grains of metal from the stony matter by means of an oily emulsion, and this reduces the quantity of material to be smelted in the furnaces by as much as 90 per cent.

Kalgoorlie has far more of the amenities of a well founded city than one has any reason to expect of a mining camp in the wilderness. And most noteworthy and most valuable of all is its abundant supply of excellent water, brought from the hills near Perth, along pipe-lines 400 miles in length. I was glad to escape the cold and wet which Kalgoorlie was most abnormally suffering at this time of my stop-over, but I carried with me many interesting thoughts of the city and its industry, as well as very kindly memories of the enthusiasm, geniality and hospitality of those citizens whom it was my privilege to meet.

The next stage of my journey was over the Nullabor Plains, by the great Trans-Australian Railway that stretches its 1,052 miles, mostly of desert, between Kalgoorlie and Port Augusta. This line is of standard gauge, well laid and the rolling stock is all new, of ample proportions and splendidly furnished. Beyond comparison, this was the most comfortable railway journey I made in my entire circuit of Australia.

But in the course of some 18 hours, of which almost 12 were in the darkness of the night, it carried me over the frontiers of Western Australia and therefore quite away

RUSSIA & JAPAN

CLASH ON RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO

Tokyo, Nov. 9.
Official despatches received by the Foreign Office regarding Mr. Matsukata's conversations in Moscow make it clear that the Soviet consider that the questions of the non-aggression pact and the recognition of Manchukuo are indissolubly linked and consequently they will not agree to the one without agreeing at the same time to the other.

Commenting on this subject the spokesman intimated that Japan considers them entirely separate matters and consequently the Soviet recognition of Manchukuo should not be made contingent on the conclusion of a non-aggression pact, as such a pact should be made on its own merits without an extraneous quid pro quo.—Reuter's Service.

RACEHORSE'S 7-MILE DASH

AFTER THROWING JOCKEY

New market, Sept. 29.
Instead of racing over a mile and a half as he was intended to do, Trustee, one of the runners for the last race of the day, the Apprentice Plate, threw his little jockey, Stinton, at the starting post and careered away in the opposite direction.

It was not until he reached Botolph Claydon, seven miles away, that his gallop was checked and he was captured.

Meanwhile scouts from Charles Waugh's stable, in which he is trained, had gone in search of him and he was brought back none the worse for his misadventure.

He had been favourite for the race, too. At the post Trustee and Mouchie had dashed into the starting gate as it went up and both jockeys were thrown. Mouchie, however, was easily captured.

There was a similar mishap in an apprentice race here last year.

PREMIER'S HOST

LABOUR'S DEMAND FOR EXPLANATION.

Mr. James Welsh, the "miners' poet" and formerly Labour M.P. for Coatbridge, was called to a Labour Conference at Coatbridge to explain why he recently entertained his old friend, the Prime Minister, at his cottage home.

Mr. Welsh faced his critics stoutly. He denied their right to question him. He said the Premier's visit was in fulfilment of a long-standing promise made when the Labour movement was ready to make "a perfect god" of Mr. MacDonald. He had refused to follow Mr. MacDonald into the National Government.

"If you cannot trust me I will clear out," declared Mr. Welsh passionately.

A further conference is to be held.

ROYAL STAND IN FLAMES

YARD DETECTIVES' INQUIRIES

The Royal stand at Kempton Park Race-course, Middlesex, was ablaze on Sept. 29, flames rising to a height of nearly 100ft.

It was a beacon that could be seen for miles around.

Hundreds of passing motorists stopped to watch the fire, and the line of cars was miles long.

So intense was the heat that the electricity supply was affected and houses over a district extending for several miles were in darkness for an hour or two.

Five Brigades.
Hampton and Sunbury fire brigades rushed to the stands on the alarm being given, and they were joined soon afterwards by the Walton brigade. Feltham and Staines brigades arrived later.

The fire was under control by ten o'clock, an hour after the alarm had been given.

Although, officially, the cause of the fire was returned as "unknown," incendiary was suspected, and Scotland Yard men are making investigations to discover the cause of the outbreak.

Recently there was an outbreak of fire at Kempton Park, but it was confined to the grillroom and the kitchen of the members' enclosure.

ROBEY'S OXFORD ACCENT

PASSING IT ON TO CHALIAPINE

George Robey is teaching Chaliapine to speak English. Hitherto the great Russian bass has known only the most common phrase.

George Robey declaims the lines with the necessary "Oxford" accent, and Chaliapine repeats them after him.

HUNT FOR SECRET ROCK TRIBE

MEN THE ROMANS CONQUERED

Cairo, Sept. 29.
Eight British explorers have left for a motor-car journey of discovery in the vast unknown regions of the Libyan Desert.

Major R. A. Bagnold, Royal Corps of Signals, is the leader, and the other members of the expedition are Dr. J. K. S. Sandford, of Oxford University, Mr. W. B. K. Shaw, late of the Sudan Forestry Service, Major J. E. H. Boustead, commanding the Camel Corps in the Sudan, Captain V. F. Craig, Royal Engineers, Lieutenant G. L. Prndergast, and Lieutenant R. N. Harding-Newman, both of the Royal Tank Corps, and Lieutenant D. R. Paterson, Royal Corps of Signals.

The explorers, who expect to be away for two months and to cover about 4,000 miles of unknown territory, are in four cars, and are carrying sufficient petrol, water and food to take them 1,200 miles at a stretch.

All other supplies have been reduced to a minimum, and the cars have been stripped of mudguards, bonnets and all other fittings that were not considered essential.

It is hoped that the explorers will gain new knowledge of the nature of the country and of the little-known Garamantes—a race of rock-dwellers of mixed Berber and negro origin.

They live in the mountains and are descended from the ancient Garamantes, who were driven to the hills by the Romans in 19 B.C.

Previous explorations have revealed that stone implements and rock drawings are to be found in remote parts of the Libyan Desert.

Even when doing this, George Robey cannot help putting in bits of "gag." The company was once electrified when the haughty Don Quixote exclaimed, in a crescendo of admiration: "Splendid! Marvellous... I don't think."

The scene was shot again.

H.M.S. IRON DUKE'S NEW JOB

STRIPPED OF GUNS AND ARMOUR PLATING

The work of demilitarising H.M. S. Iron Duke, the flagship of Lord Jellicoe at the Battle of Jutland, has been completed at Devonport. Originally condemned under the London Naval Treaty to be scrapped with the Emperor of India, Marlborough, Benbow, and Tiger, to Chatham.

the Iron Duke was repaired, and ordered instead to be fitted for use as a gunnery practice vessel. Most of her guns, boilers, torpedoes, and armour plating have been removed. The old cruiser Terrible, which landed guns in the South African War for the defence of Ladysmith, has left Portsmouth for Newport (Mon.) to be broken up. The vessel was lately known as Flaggard Third, and was the last of the hulks used as a training school for boy artificers, now transferred to Chatham.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

A Singleton ace is often a very valuable card, but at times it is a detriment rather than a help. The following hand was played recently in a duplicate match, and North's singleton ace of clubs proved a stumbling-block to many players.

The Bidding.

Most of the South players opened with one club, although some preferred to bid no trump to show a very strong hand with all four suits stopped. In either case North bid and re-bid diamonds, because of the freakish distribution of his hand. A few pairs reached a five diamond contract, which was defeated one trick, but most of them played it at three no trump with South the declarer.

The Play.

In every case West opened the jack of spades and declarer won in his own hand, but from this point the play differed considerably.

One declarer boldly led out the ace and queen of diamonds, hoping that suit would be evenly divided and that the ace of clubs would serve as an entry to bring in the rest of the suit in dummy. He was defeated two tricks, because West shifted to a heart and the opponents were able to make two diamonds, three hearts and the king of clubs.

Another declarer led a small club to the ace and attempted to re-enter his own hand by finessing the queen of diamonds. When the finesse lost, West led a heart and the declarer was again defeated.

One of the few players to play the hand correctly was Mrs. Anne Rosenfeld. After winning the first spade trick she realized that the clubs must be established immediately. The lone ace in dummy really pointed the establishment of the suit for one round, and she was desperately afraid of a heart shift before the clubs could be set up.

Accordingly, she led the king of spades and discarded the troublesome ace of clubs on it. It was then a very simple matter to establish the clubs while holding top cards in the other three suits.

The result was that Mrs. Rosenfeld lost only one club, one heart, and one diamond, fulfilling her three no trump contract with an overtrick.

PROFESSOR BROWN "ON THE AIR"

RECENT TOUR

Professor Walter Brown, of the Hongkong University, recently toured Australia and paid particular attention to the western half. Last night through the microphone of ZBW he gave his impressions of the country.

"Before dealing with Western Australia in particular," said Prof. Brown, "I should like to make a few general remarks about Australia as a whole."

Australia is a large place—almost exactly equal in area to the United States of America. It is described sometimes as the largest island in the world and sometimes as the smallest continent.

It presents a great variety of interests, geographical, geological, biological and human. And to British people here in Hongkong, it has the added interest of being the nearest large region occupied almost exclusively by people of British origin, and therefore also exhibiting most of the familiar features of our own particular brand of western civilisation.

Beyond doubt, the most important part of Australia is its eastern margin, especially the south-east. There, the earliest European settlements were made, and there to-day we find the densest population and the most mature development. The names of the chief eastern cities—Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Adelaide—are familiar to all. And few people are unaware of the gold, wool, grain and timber industries of Eastern Australia.

But western Australia is relatively an unknown region, relatively to the people outside Australia, but even to the inhabitants of the Eastern Australian states themselves. This marked separation is due to the fact that the great middle portion of Australia is very largely desert, incapable, except in odd corners, of supporting any settled white population, and until the construction of the transcontinental railway, forming almost a complete barrier between the eastern and western extremities.

Rainless Areas.

Australia has some very attractive features, but it also suffers badly from several incurable disabilities. It lies across those degrees of latitude which, all over the globe, tend to be rainless. Most of the world's deserts include the regions between 20 and 30 degrees North or South latitude. If the whole vast island could be dragged 10 degrees further south its climate would benefit enormously.

Then the Australian coast is singularly uniform devoid of large gulfs by which rain-bearing winds might reach the interior and also, by which communications might be facilitated. Finally, some great mountain ranges, had they existed in the interior, would have had a very beneficial effect on the climate.

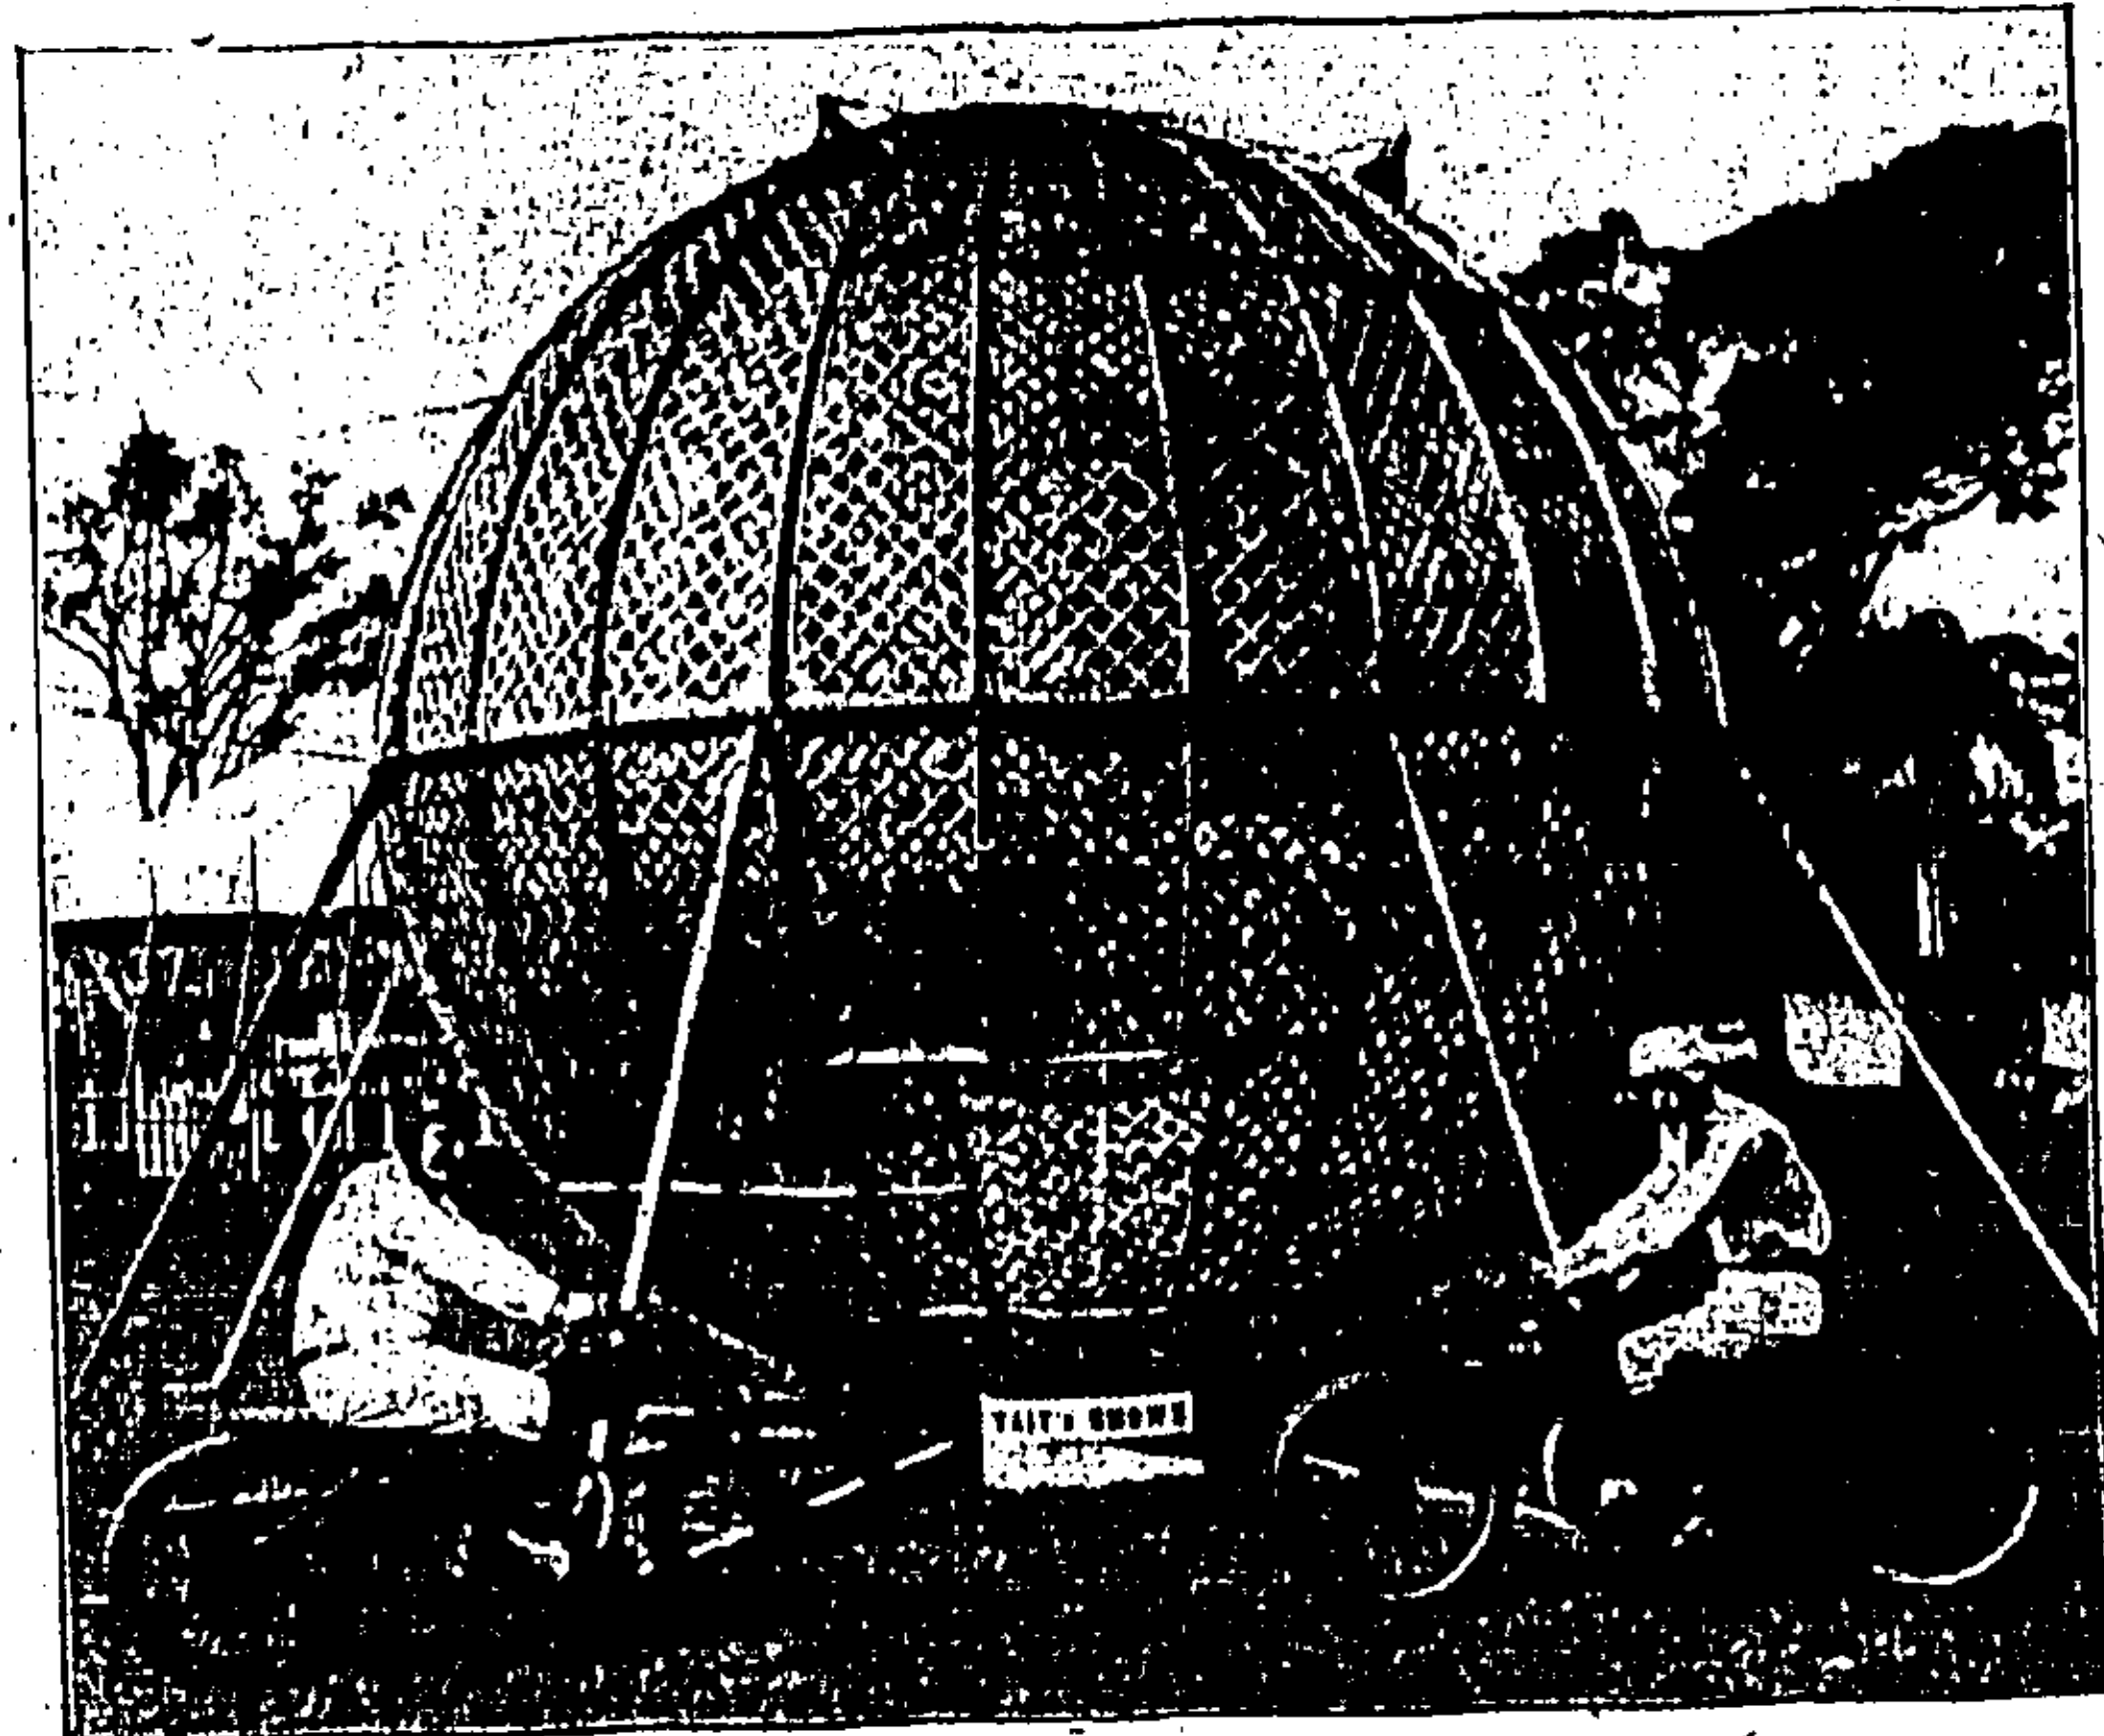

Western Australia, in particular, is a vast region of almost 1,000,000 square miles—almost equal in area to the United Kingdom, Scandinavia, Germany, France and Italy combined. It has no very important inlets, not a single first-class natural harbour, no navigable rivers and, except in the south-west corner, a deficient and unreliable rainfall. It is perhaps no wonder that more than a century after European settlement began, this enormous territory has to-day a population of only some 450,000, and nearly all of that is concentrated in the small but greatly favoured region in the extreme south-west.

It may be of interest to mention, in passing, that I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. "Texas" Green, M.H.R. for all West Australia except the south-western corner surrounding Perth. He claims to have the largest political constituency in the world—about 800,000 square miles.

Perth, the capital, has over 200,000 inhabitants or nearly half the State's total. In the Mother Country itself, so highly centralised and urbanised, the abnormally large city of Greater London represents only some 17 or 18 per cent. of the total population. And it is surely quite astonishing to find this excessive urbanisation in a "new" land where one would rather expect to find the country dominating the town and rural industries predominating over civic.

Journey Experiences.

I entered the Australian continent from the west, travelling from south-east Java by a small vessel. I confess I received a mild shock when as a holder of a first-class ticket, I was conducted to the ninth berth in a 10-berth cabin! Yet, when I knew the vessel better, I came to the conclusion that I had

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN HALL, accused ASPER DEER, a timber king, of crooked practice and of having men shot who try to check up on his activities. Hall says he is making a check for cattle interests. He says he will prevent it in person. Upon leaving DeLo's office Hall saw DONA, Asper's daughter, from kidnappers. Learning her name, he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTER loves Dona. He agrees to make Asper give up the wild idea of going to Three Rivers and running Hall or the company property. Dona goes with him. They find a manhunt in progress with Hall as the objective. Asper is badly wounded from ambush but cannot be kept in bed. Dudley produces a marriage certificate that they had been prevented from using by Dona's being unsure of herself. They tell Asper they are married. Hall overhears this announcement, while in for food. He is caught by SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss, who have been a trade figure in the hills. Hall is taken to a cabin while Swergin goes out to gather a mob for a lynching. He surprises his captor and escapes.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The moon had flooded the very last patch of timber on the upper reaches of Folly Mountain. Dudley stood on the bottom step and looked up at Dona. His handsome mouth had widened in a smile of indulgence. Dona could not see his eyes because of the shadows but she was sure they held a flickering hunter at her hesitancy. After all, Dona had publicly announced that she was his wife. And she was a modern girl—the slender, active beauty who could ride, play tennis and swim, yet who could grace a luxurious easy chair with tantalizing languor.

"Hates to give up her freedom," Dudley thought to himself.

"I won't give up!" Dona told herself, but she arose and allowed Dudley to slip an arm around her.

"We must stop in and see Dad," she said aloud.

Dudley gave her a little squeeze but Dona pulled away from him.

They found Asper awake and apparently waiting for them. "I should think you love birds would be freezing!" he greeted them.

"We've been watching the moon uncover Folly Mountain," Dona said in a low voice and her words sounded strangely light.

"Just a bit of night air," Dudley grinned.

"Well, run along now. It's getting late. Time for an old fellow like me to get some sleep." Asper's eyes held a hint of moisture.

Dona bent and kissed him. "You're not an old fellow, Dad! And, as your nurse, it's my duty to take care of you. Is there anything you want?"

"Not a thing. You're not to bother about me. I'm going to sleep like a spruce log tonight. Won't wake up a single time." Asper closed his eyes and settled back against the pillows.

"Well, then—good night." Dona took her father's hand and gave it a final squeeze.

Dudley caught her arm and led her from the room. Outside the girl halted. Noiselessly she closed the door behind her.

"I'll move my things to your room," Dudley spoke with a tone of mastery he had never dared use before.

"You can't do that!"

"Why not?" Dudley demanded.

"We're married, aren't we?"

"You know we're not married," Dona flushed. "We will have to go down to Seth Doby's and find Sam Dean before we can be married."

"I never thought you'd stick for all that bunk!" Dudley was beginning to be impatient.

"Well, you know it now!" She could not keep an edge from her voice.

"All right. We'll drive down there to-night."

"You know I won't leave Dad."

The girl felt she was gaining ground.

"You won't be able to put this over," Dudley warned her.

Dona took a step toward him. "Dad, please be good to me! I know I'm a little fool but I want everything to be right. You will, won't you?"

He frowned sulkily. "I'm the fool, I guess," he growled and turned on his heel.

Dona watched him go to his room. He shut the door with a snap and did not look back. She sighed and again slipped out into the moonlight. In the shelter of the cherry bush at the end of the building she sank down and gave herself up to her emotions. A shadowy form on the hillside caused her to make an effort at control. A man was coming toward her. She could see that he was tall and slender. With a little gasp Dona fled around the corner.

She did not want to return to her room so she wandered down to the corral. There she found Malloy, silently smoking a cigarette and gazing out into the night. He nodded to her but did not speak. Dona climbed up beside him and sat with her chin in her hands. She wanted to ask the silent cowboy a question. It was on the tip of her tongue when a man came running down the hill.

Malloy did not make a move to get down from his perch though the approaching man was evidently very excited. A flare of moonlight splashing through the ancient spruce revealed their hurried visitor. Swergin, restless and angry, was approaching.

"Get out the men. Saddle up all the horses!" he shouted.

Malloy did not move but he did give a shrill whistle that brought two men from the shadow of a wall. "Hear what the boss says?" he drawled.

The men scattered to rouse the rest of the camp. Swergin halted before the two on the fence. "Get down from there and get busy on them horses!" Swergin bellowed. He did not seem to see Dona.

Malloy slid from his perch into the corral. Wild excitement broke loose. Men ran about saddling up while Swergin shouted orders. Ball had visited the camp and was close in. Every man was to use his rifle. The bandit was to be run down. Dona sat watching the picture. She wished the hunters luck but she did not move to join them. Why she could not have told.

The corral was a swirl of dust. Riders galloped out through the open gate and thundered up the slope. Swergin was the last to go. Dona had not climbed down from the fence. Now she looked about and saw, with a start, that Malloy was again seated beside her, smoking calmly.

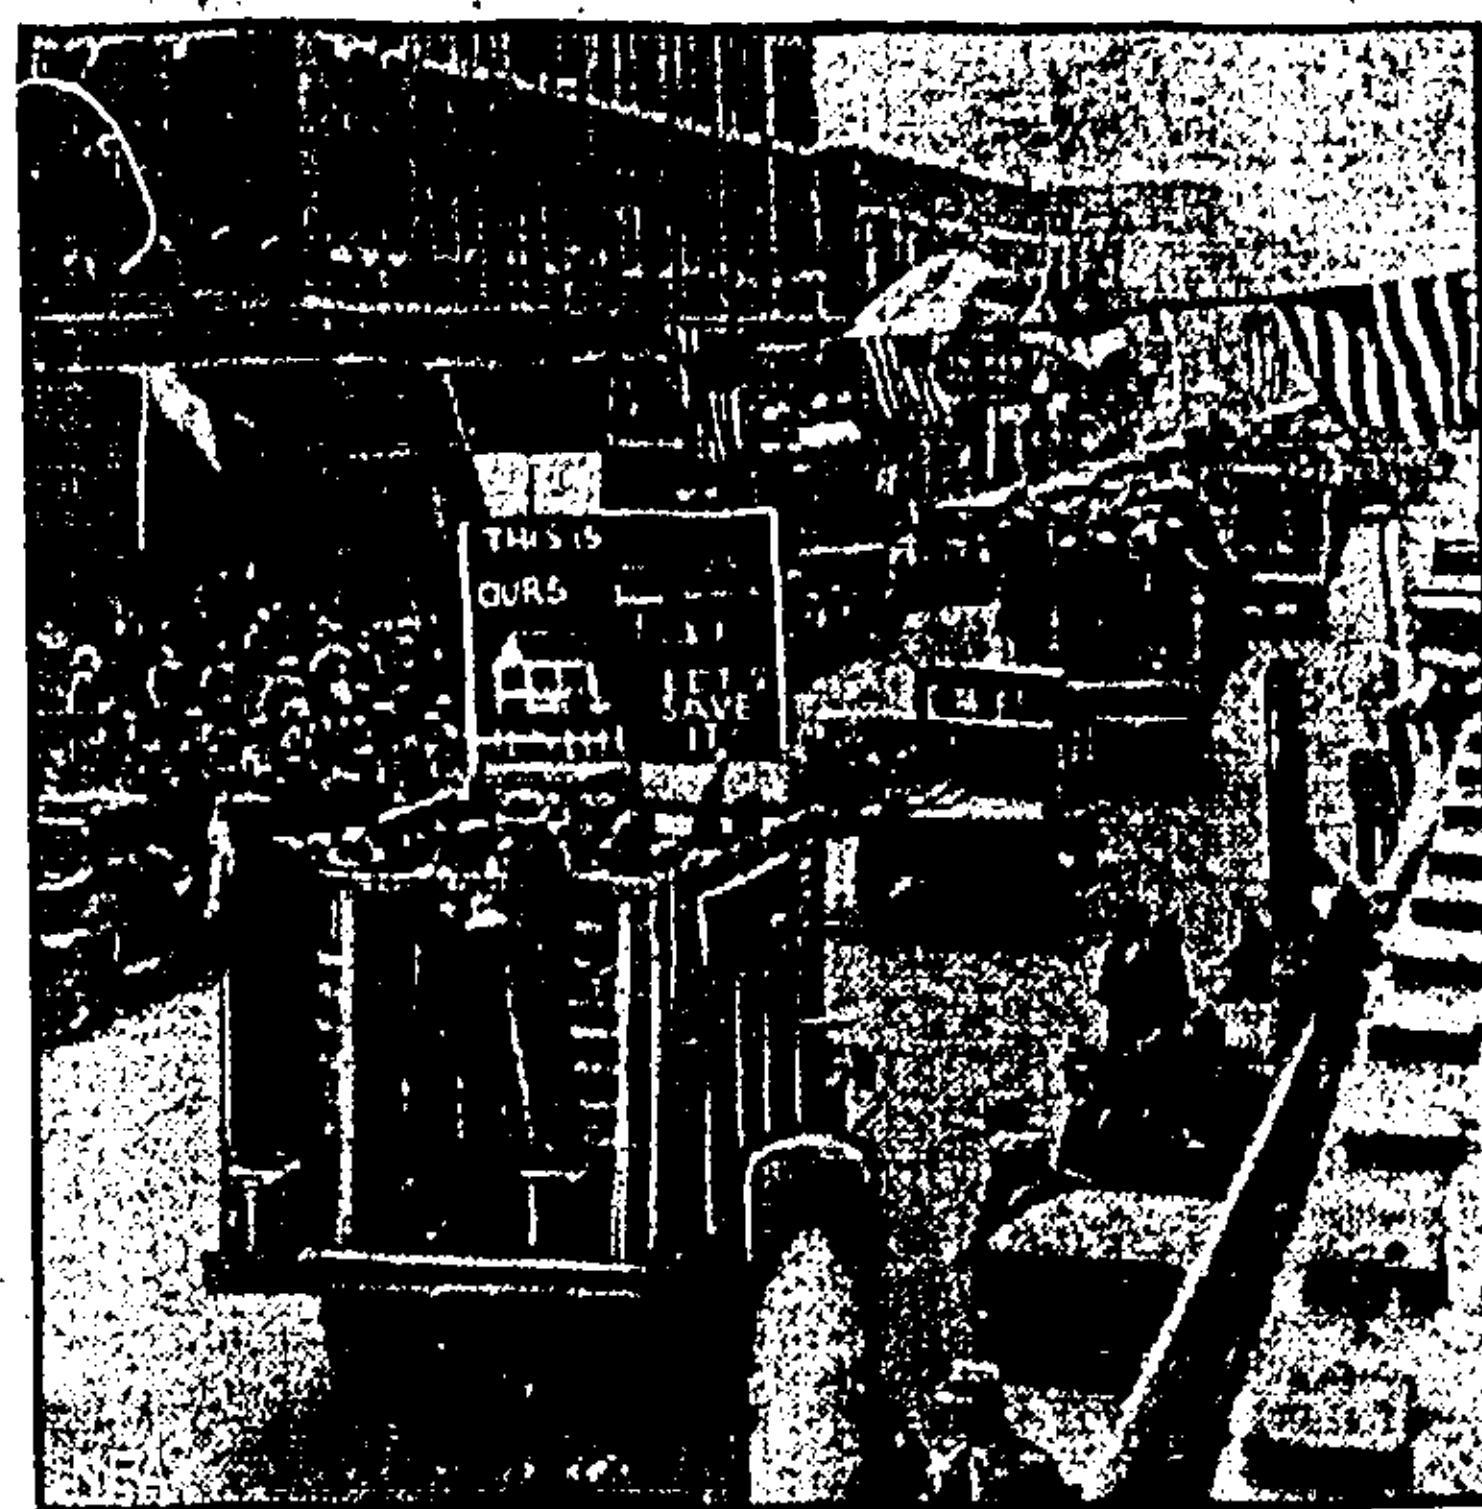

MOONLIGHT, a picturesque mountain camp, a pretty girl and a dashing cowboy. With such romantic elements of course there's a love story in "Call of the West" by R. G. Montgomery. There's adventure and excitement too in this thrilling new serial.

"Why didn't you go?" she demanded. "There's enough men up in that scrub timber to capture an army—let alone one man," Malloy answered, blowing a ring of smoke out from under his wide hat. "If you don't want to be loyal and help run this murderer why don't you quit?" Dona spoke sharply. "I reckon as how I will quit one of these days. Yes, soon as I get square with this outfit I'll haul my freight," Malloy drawled.

"If my father owes you anything you can get it at once," Dona flared. "I aim to collect when I get ready," Malloy's grin was wide and he tossed the butt of his cigarette far from him. It lay there glowing in the dew-drenched grass. "Will you saddle my roan for me?" Dona demanded. Her ques-

ROOSEVELT WINS

Expectations have been simply fulfilled by the success of Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, in the United States presidential election. Thus, after twelve years of Republican rule, America has decided to give the other party the opportunity of controlling the destinies of the nation. Even in normal conditions, a swing of the pendulum might have been expected; the world depression has served to intensify that tendency. Actually, the popular vote is an indictment of the Republican policies in grappling with the crisis. It now remains to be seen whether the Democrats will make any deeper or more effectual impression on the situation. The new incumbent of White House is a man of high integrity and undoubted ability; even his political opponents will concede that much. He will assume office under conditions of the greatest difficulty, but with the wishes of the whole world that his term of office may not only bring prosperity to his country, but also mark an era of collaboration with other nations in tasks which are common to all.

The policies for which Mr. Roosevelt stand present many striking contrasts with those of the Republicans. On Prohibition, the Democrats are definitely committed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, so that the way is now all clear for abandonment of this experiment and the wiping out of the evils and abuses which have accompanied it. Turning to the chief issue with which the Government will have to deal—the depression still so apparent—Mr. Roosevelt is on record as favouring a policy broad enough to include every part of the economic structure, including the improvement of the condition of "the little fellow at the bottom of the pyramid," as against the Hoover programme which, he contends, was framed for the benefit of the man at the top. On this issue, the Democrats have been criticised by their foes on the basis that Mr. Roosevelt's campaign statements have been somewhat vague, the attack being directed against his ideas of economic recovery, based largely on the restoration of the purchasing power of the masses by methods which have not been too clearly explained. Time will tell, however, how far doubts along these lines are justified.

Perhaps of more interest than any other aspect of the Democratic policy is that which favours a new conception of the tariff based not on Congressional log-rolling or supposedly scientific schedules, but on negotiation of tariff agreements between nations for reciprocal exchange of goods, this for the purpose of ending the worldwide tariff war and restoring foreign trade. Here, at any rate, the Roosevelt ideas are promising. In regard to unemployment, the President-Elect is opposed to the "dole," and for the present emergency he favours State and local relief measures, although for a permanent system he inclines to some form of unemployment insurance in which both workers and employers contribute. In this connexion, it may be noted that as Governor of New York State he fostered a move for a fifty per cent. increase in the State's income tax, designed to provide a $20,000,000 unemployment fund to finance supplementary public works, and, when no work was available, food, clothing and shelter—but no cash "dole." Two other matters of internal policy may be mentioned. Mr. Roosevelt stands for strict Government control of utilities, both as to rates and financing, and for governmental operation in cases where satisfactory conditions for private operation cannot be obtained; while on the question of farm relief he favours "permanent settlement," instead of attempting price stabilisation methods like those on which the Federal Farm Board has lost two hundred million dollars since 1929.

On foreign relations, the Democrats have followed a line favouring collection of war debts owing to America, but it is probable that this attitude has largely been influenced by campaigning considerations, and that eventually some more helpful attitude on this thorny issue will develop. Mr. Roosevelt certainly has a big opportunity of contributing along liberal lines to the solution of this and other world problems. As Governor of New York State, he has held an executive job surpassed in importance only by the Presidency itself. His fine record in that office augurs well for his occupancy of White House.

Poppy Day.

The lasting good which has been done by the British Legion thanks to the response of Britons throughout the world to the annual Remembrance Day appeal serves as a stimulant to greater effort. The necessity for an energetic continuance of the manifold activities of the Legion receives emphasis every minute of each day that the world-wide industrial depression lasts, and we feel sure we may take it for granted that Hongkong will pay as generously as it possibly can to-morrow in support of this worthy cause. The bulk of the funds at the disposal of the Legion is annually allocated to the Relief Fund, grants are made to all societies aiding ex-Service men and other monies are devoted to special activities such as the employment department, which has 3,000 branches in England with committees of voluntary workers actively engaged in canvassing employers on behalf of unemployed ex-Service men. During the past year, the Legion has placed in employment through its own machinery some 17,000 men. It is a remarkable fact that while the figures of unemployed for the

THIS MAN ROOSEVELT

By ROBERT TALLEY

Four years ago New York offered to the United States as a presidential candidate a governor who had been born amid the poverty of Manhattan's East Side, grown up as a newsboy on the sidewalks of New York and worked at his first job in the smelly precincts of the Fulton fish market. That governor, of course, was Alfred E. Smith.

Yesterday the state of New York offered for the same high office another governor, who was born of one of the first families of the country, reared in the lap of luxury, educated by private tutors and at Harvard and whose wedding was attended by a president of the United States.

Such is the colourful contrast in the lives of the two most recent Democratic candidates and between whom a Damon-and-Pythias friendship existed for nearly 20 years.

Fifty years old, tall, broad-shouldered, deep-chested and blessed with a winning smile, President-Elect Franklin Roosevelt has been one of the busiest men in America.

His average day begins at 8 a.m. when he wakes, breakfasts in bed and the newspapers are brought to him to read. After going over his personal mail with a stenographer, he dons a dressing gown and rises to greet political associates.

At 10 his round of appointments begins. There is time for lunch, served at his desk—and then the series of conferences is resumed until 5 p.m.

He goes home, swims for 15 minutes in a private pool, takes a short nap and then dresses for dinner. There are always dinner guests—from five to 25 in number. After dinner he reads the newspapers, works on speeches, messages and pardon applications and then piles into bed to read detective stories until midnight.

The story of the Roosevelts in New York—meaning the governor's ancestors—goes back to the year 1644 when Claes Martenzon van Roosevelt and his brothers came over from Holland and settled along the Hudson river.

From this line came President Theodore Roosevelt, a fifth cousin of Franklin Roosevelt and also Franklin's wife, formerly Miss Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. She was a niece of the president and her husband's sixth cousin.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt and Anna Eleanor Roosevelt were married at his father's fashionable New York City home in 1905, President Roosevelt attended the ceremony and gave away the bride. One of the bridesmaids was Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

On the 500-acre Dutchess county estate of his father—who was vice president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad—Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born on Jan. 30, 1882.

Amid wealth and plenty, the boy grew to young manhood. He had French and German governesses and private tutors, spent his vacations at his father's summer home in Maine.

His earliest recollection concerns a storm at sea while returning from a visit to Europe with his parents on the White Star liner Germanic.

As Franklin Roosevelt grew older, he spent several summers touring Europe on a bicycle with a private tutor.

Later, he went to Groton, a fashionable school for boys. In 1900, he entered Harvard at the age of 18. He played football on the freshman team, rowed with the freshman crew and became editor of the Crimson.

After he was graduated from Harvard in 1904 he was married the following March while attending Columbia University law school. At the close of the school year, he and his bride went to Europe on a belated honeymoon.

In 1910, Roosevelt gave up the practice of law to run for the Senate of New York State. He campaigned in a motorcar a novelty in those days, won the farmers on a platform that called, among other things, for standardized apple barrels, and was elected.

Roosevelt had hardly entered the Legislature when he began his famous fight against "Blue-eyed Billy" Sheehan, Buffalo Democrat, who was Tammany's candidate for United States senator. Roosevelt charged that Sheehan was too close to the "interests."

Defying Tammany, he organized a filibuster which held out for many weeks and finally defeated Sheehan.

In the Legislature, Roosevelt met Al Smith, who had come up from New York as an assemblyman and the long friendship between them began.

In March, 1913, President Wilson appointed Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy under Secretary Joseph Daniels.

He held this post throughout the World War, handling most of the navy's huge purchases of supplies.

In 1920, Roosevelt was nominated as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, made the campaign with Cox and went down to defeat in the Harding landslide.

Less than a year later—in August, 1921—Roosevelt suffered the great tragedy of his life. He was spending his vacation at his summer home near Campobello, and had gone for a swim. Returning, he sat down in his wet bathing suit to read his mail.

That night he was taken ill. By morning, he was paralyzed from the hips down. Doctors pronounced it infantile paralysis. From that day to this he has been a cripple.

He spent weary months as an invalid before he regained even the partial use of his limbs. Gradually, however, improvement came. He began to walk with the aid of leg braces and crutches, then a pair of canes. Today, he uses only one cane.

Except for leaving him a cripple, the malady has not affected him. He is in excellent health to-day and as the result of a great deal of swimming—an exercise that the doctors prescribe—he has a chest expansion greater than that of Jack Dempsey. Two years ago, life insurance companies issued him $500,000 insurance at the regular rate.

In 1924, Roosevelt appeared on crutches at Madison Square Garden and made the speech that placed Al Smith's name before the delegates.

Four years later, leaning heavily on two canes, he did the same thing for his old friend at Houston.

In 1920, he had seconded Smith and Smith had seconded him for the vice presidential nomination at San Francisco.

In 1928, when Smith was running for the presidency, he asked Roosevelt to run for governor of New York. After hesitating because of his physical condition, Roosevelt finally consented.

He won and two years later he was elected for his second term, which will expire on Jan. 1, 1933.

Whilst driving public car No. 185 in De Wouk Road Central yesterday, shortly after noon, Kong See, the licensed driver, knocked down a nine-year-old girl, Kong Tai-yan, who was removed to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from a fractured right leg.

RECENT MURDER SEQUEL

BROTHER APPEARS IN THE DOCK

Extensive police investigations into a recent murder, revealed as a result of the discovery of the mutilated body of a Chinese, have culminated in the arrest of three men, one of whom is alleged to be a brother of the deceased man.

The machinery of the local Criminal Investigation Department was set in motion when, early on the morning of September 24, the strangled, mutilated body of Lam Kam-tan was found on the Victoria Jubilee Road at Pokfulam. The man had been murdered and a heavy stone dropped on the head to prevent identification.

The police discovered certain clues which led them to arrest Lam Kam-shuk, who is believed to be a brother of the deceased man. Lam Kam-shuk, aged 54, was alleged to have procured Chan Kau, aged 19, and Lam Fuk-lung (the latter stated to be an adopted son), to commit the crime.

The three men were brought before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court this morning, the elderly man charged with procuring the murder of the deceased and the other two with murder.

Mr. P. M. Hodgson represented Lam Kam-shuk, the other two being unrepresented.

On the application of the police, the defendants were formally remanded for one week.

CANTON CEMENT UNDERTAKING

SAID TO BE LITTLE GOLD MINE

Canton, Nov. 9. Among the public works and undertakings under the management of the Provincial or Municipal Government, the Saichuen Government Cement works have already proved to be a little gold mine. The daily output of cement is about 1,400 barrels, although the contract with the Danish firm, F. L. Smith & Co., stipulated for only 1,200 barrels per day. Cement is sold at the Works for $10 per barrel, and averaging the cost per barrel at $6, profit of $4 means $5,600 on the daily turnover.

Already the Saichuen product has become very popular with contractors. The demand for it is increasing to such an extent that the Government is seriously contemplating adding a further unit to the plant.

The quality of the Saichuen cement was officially tested as follows:—Tensile strength after 3 days 360-370 lbs. per sq. in.; after seven days, 420 lbs.—Central Press.

POSED AS POLICE OFFICER

ALLEGATION AGAINST YOUTH

Charges of impersonating a police officer and of obtaining $12.60 from a Chinese woman as a result of such impersonation, were brought against an unemployed youth before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court this morning.

In asking for a remand until next week, Inspector F. Shattain, attached to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, remarked that they were investigating further cases and there was a possibility of other charges being brought against the defendant.

The defendant, continued the officer, had posed generally as a detective and had offered the complainant protection against somebody who was trying to break into her house. It was probable that the evidence would reveal that the defendant himself was the man who was trying to break into the complainant's house.

His Worship adjourned the case until next Tuesday.

In addition to the regular naval forces which will participate in the ceremony at the Cenotaph to-morrow in connection with the observance of Armistice Day, a detachment of 32 of the crew of the Portuguese cruiser Adamastor will be landed. An American contingent of 12 each for the U.S.S. Mindanao and U.S.S. Fulton, both of which are in port, will also attend.

Letters of administration to the estate of Mr. Seld Qui, late of Cheong Sar Village, Kwangtung, who died intestate on August 10th, have been granted to his widow, Lam Yu. The value of the local estate is $10,300. Application for re-sealing probate of the will of Mr. Lim Hoh-poh, late of Singapore, has been granted to Mr. G. S. Hughes-Jones, solicitor of Hongkong. The local estate is valued at $5,500.

ROOSEVELT IN HAPPY POSITION

will once more occupy the office of Governor of the State.

HOOVER SHOULD QUIT.

The suggestion has been made by Mr. Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to Woodrow Wilson, that President Hoover should resign at once, in order that the country may not experience four months of "chaos and uncertainty."

JAPAN PLEASED.

Tokyo messages indicate that the majority of Japanese are pleased at the selection of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt as president of the United States.

Special dispatches from the American correspondents of the big Tokyo and Osaka newspapers have been forecasting Governor Roosevelt's election for weeks and the government-supported news agency even went so far as to state a month ago that all informed Americans were predicting Roosevelt's success.

Some newspapers in Tokyo point out that there really is little basic difference in the programme of the two great American political parties, which are described as "mere rival political organizations," but the majority of Japanese refuse to accept this theory.

CHANGE OF POLICY?

The bulk of the people think that the new Administration in the White House will mean a new foreign policy, as far as the Orient is concerned, and they feel that any new policy is certain to be much better than that followed by the State Department during Secretary Stimson's regime.

The President-Elect and his Vice-President, Mr. John Garner, at present Speaker of the House.

Japan would like desperately to see some development in the United States which would change American opposition to the programme of the Japanese Army in Manchuria and pave the way for eventual recognition of the "independent State of Manchukuo."

The Japanese realise that as long as the United States clings to the Stimson doctrine of no recognition and continues to uphold the Nine Power Treaty, which guarantees China's territorial integrity, they are going to face a considerable danger of world isolation in carrying out their programme in northern Asia.

RUSSIA KEENLY INTERESTED.

Soviet political circles are keenly interested in the outcome of the Presidential election.

Mr. Hoover's attitude was known to be generally hostile towards Russia. Most Russians believe, however, that Mr. Roosevelt will approach the problem more open-mindedly.

The Soviet press has devoted relatively small space to the pre-election campaign in the United States. Its comment has been inclined towards satire, since Soviet public opinion has been trained to smile at all "democratic" activities.

There is a widespread conviction that some step toward adjusting relations with the Soviet Union may be expected from Washington after the new administration is inaugurated.

The American elections coincided almost exactly with the fifteenth anniversary of the Soviet revolution. The coincidence seems to underline what some call the "obduracy" of the American government in refusing to recognize a regime which has been in existence a decade and a half.

LADIES' GOLF

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Section of the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club was held at the Helena May Institute this morning, over forty members attending.

Following the adoption of the report and accounts the Captain, Mrs. A. B. Stewart, who occupied the chair, said:—As the report and accounts have been in your hands for some time I propose with your permission to adopt the usual procedure and take them as read.

As you will have seen from the report, the status of the Ladies' Section has been changed since the last annual meeting and it is now in effect a Sub-Committee of the General Committee of the Golf Club. Under this new arrangement monthly subscriptions are now payable direct to the Club, which makes us a yearly grant to cover the expenses of the section. In the year under review this grant amounted to $600 and in addition to this we had at the beginning of the year a balance in the bank of $125.28 and cash in hand $6.10.

HEAVY EXPENSES.

Unfortunately the year's expenses exceeded the amount received and at the close of the year we had a debit balance with the bank of $71.26 and cash in hand $4.11. The principal item in the list of expenses was on account of prizes which were on a more generous scale than previously and cost $404.81 compared with $259.80 the previous year. In this connection I might mention that the Championship Cup presented by Mr. Harry Hancock in 1924 has now been won outright by Mrs. Lambert. I am glad to say, however, that Mr. C. Bulmer Johnson has presented a new challenge cup for the Championship and our hearty thanks are due to him for his kindness.

I do not think there is any other item in the accounts which calls for comment, and I now propose that the report and accounts as presented be adopted. When this has been seconded I shall be pleased to answer any questions which members may wish to ask.

Election of Committee.

Following the adoption of the report and account the ballot for the election of Captain and Committee for the forthcoming year was held, resulting as follows:—Captain, Mrs. Syme Thompson; Committee, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Dovy, Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Mackenzie, Mrs. Redmond, Miss Robinson.

After some discussion on the question of qualifying rounds for the Railway and Taggart Cups, the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chair. A meeting of the new Committee was held immediately after the close of the general meeting.

The Interport Probables

Selection of Team Good Although Rather Provocative

(By "Veritas")

In view of the teams chosen for the various trials, the Probable Interport XI to visit Shanghai, selected by the committee to meet the Rest of the Colony on Friday contains very few surprises.

Nevertheless it seems that the selectors were in a somewhat provocative frame of mind when they made their decision. For a trial match they put Sun Kam-shun at inside left and Wong Mee-shun at inside right to all intents and purposes with the idea of discovering whether they were suitable for those positions, and turn round an hour later and give them entirely new places in the Probable team.

Thus we find Shun chosen to operate at inside left and Wong at centre-half. Presumably the selectors feel these players are sufficiently versatile successfully to fill any position on the field, and possibly they are perfectly correct, but the procedure strikes one as curious.

Taking due cognizance of all circumstances, however, the team should be able to give quite a good account of itself. They will be up against a stiff proposition tomorrow and if they emerge successful can go to Shanghai with a fair amount of confidence.

RODGER'S REWARD. There will be no discussion concerning the selection of Rodger, both as custodian and skipper of the side. He has proved his worth as keeper of the citadel time and again, and his wide knowledge and experience will stand him in good stead in carrying out the duties of captaincy.

Mullane, in view of his consistent performances in the trials and league matches this season assured himself of the right back position and Strange, providing he has completely recovered from his injury is a natural choice for right back.

The inclusion of Bliss will be generally received with satisfaction, although I repeat what I contended yesterday, he would be far more useful at left than right half.

The selection of Wong Mee-shun at centre-half is certainly an unexpected move in view of the trials, but it has to be remembered that this is his normal position. Certainly I know of no more capable player in Hongkong at the present to fill this important job of work, and the forwards can be fairly assured of an adequate supply of opening-up passes.

DUNCAN'S JOB. Andy Duncan is a good selection if the selectors have in mind a spoiler only. He is certainly a great worker and a most tenacious tackler. If he can but remember to take his time in distributing the ball, keeping it low and directing it with care, he will prove an acquisition to the team.

The selectors apparently did not take too seriously the sudden fall from grace on Tuesday of B. Gosano, and in this direction, perhaps they will be fully justified. But he must show an improvement. In the last three matches he has been completely off colour and such loss of form, although perhaps only temporary, has to be seriously considered. It is to be sincerely hoped that he regains his old cleverness and speed, for on his day there is not a better wingman in the Colony.

UNCOURAGEOUS. Sun will make an excellent partner for him, but I venture to think the selectors allowed their courage to fall them at the last moment in choosing Howe over the head of Johnson for the centre forward position.

Johnson in the last trial played the forceful football, the type of stuff which keeps a pair of backs in anxiety. Johnson may not be the perfect leader, but I feel his game is more suited to Interport football than Howe's artistic touches which may, or may not, get the team anywhere.

The confidence displayed in Jones of the Borderers is welcome, for he

BAD TACTICS ON PART OF KOWLOON SCRUM EASY VICTORY FOR CLUB

The Club "A" fifteen were full value for their victory at the expense of Kowloon at the Valley yesterday, winning by 11 points to nil after enjoying a pronounced superiority throughout the game. Both sides started with one or two players short, but a few minutes of play saw the teams completed. The Club pack very quickly got into their stride and displayed their all-round superiority, particularly in the tight scrums, where McElaney easily mastered the opposition hooker. The Club too held a big advantage on the line-outs where Munro's great height continually robbed Kowloon of any chances of securing the ball.

The early stages of the game saw the ball repeatedly heeled, but it was noticeable that passing movements of big promise were constantly being ruined by a ludicrously bad pass after the ball had been worked down the field. Lowson must be blamed for many of these and he was further guilty of a great deal of running across the field. In other respects he gave a good account of himself.

THE SCORING.

A nice passing movement half way through the initial period saw King score a try in the corner from one of the very few chances given him. Rigg made a good shot at goal, which just failed.

Shortly afterwards Harbord, who has shown excellent form on the wing in the last few matches, scored a good try which Rigg converted with a splendid kick. The interval arrived with the Club leading 8 points to nil.

The second half saw the Club maintain their superiority up forward, with McElaney, Munro and Cox always prominent. If the backs had rested content with orthodox passing and backing up a heavy must score must have resulted. As it was, the only additional points came from a try scored by Harbord, which brought the home side's tally up to eleven.

THE PLAYERS.

On the Kowloon side Eastbrook was a most reliable full back, his fielding, kicking and

MORE INCONVENIENCE OVER VENUE

Owing to a mistake in the arrangement of fixtures by the Football Association, the Club rugby XV is again put to the inconvenience of having to transfer its game on Saturday from Happy Valley to Sookunpoo, where the Army authorities have kindly allowed the game to be played.

The match will start at 4.15 p.m., and the Club will be without Dr. Selby who is in hospital. Peers, who was hurt last week, Robertson and Burch who are on the injured list and Bradford and Kerr, who are rowing, will also be absent, but McElaney and Jenkins return to the side which will be:

St. J. H. Fox, J. J. Ferguson, A. F. Jenkins, R. H. Griffiths, G. P. Lammert, M. W. Turner, M. N. Macintosh, A. R. Cox, D. McLellan, J. C. Miller, P. Hall Thompson, A. E. Munro, S. H. Garrod, J. H. McElaney, G. C. Moutrie. Reserves:—Rigg and Merry.

tackling all being good. There was little merit in the play of the other defenders, apart from a splendid run by Ferguson, who beat several opponents in a run of 50 yards before being well and truly tackled by McElaney.

Terrible would be definitely good if he were not so obsessed with the desire to score over the referee.

FAULTY PASSING RUINS GOOD MOVEMENTS

MATCH REVIEWED BY "FLY HALF"

Of the pack, the less said the better. They will always remain ragged until some of them learn to leave the tackling to the leader and get down to real solid scrummaging. Forwards, whose sole thought is to play to the gallery are of no use, particularly to a side which is trying to find its feet.

This, I should hasten to point out, is a general criticism, and does not, of course, apply to all the forwards.

The teams were: Club:—Fox, King, Rigg, Jenkins, Harbord, Lowson, Munro; McElaney, Cox, Cochrane, Dalziel, Nigel, Carrad, McElaney, Andrews. Kowloon:—Eastbrook; Ferguson, Whitley, Shaw, Owen Davies; Penat; Tirroble; Watson, Gurevitch; Pryor; Wilson, McNider; la Roche, Brokenshire, Cogan.

Mr. McLellan was referee.

NAVY BEATEN

BORDERERS GAIN SURPRISE WIN

With a few changes in their line-up of last Saturday the Royal Navy fielded quite a strong team against the formidable South Wales Borderers fifteen at Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon and were beaten by eleven points to three after a game full of thrills.

The Navy were playing one forward short, fielding fourteen players all told, and as a result were heavily handicapped. Their weight in the scrums was greatly minimised and they were constantly beaten for possession of the ball. However, they gallantly held the military team in the first half, although the Borderers opened the scoring with a goal. Before the half time the Navy scored a try to make matters even again. In the second half the Navy players felt the strain and were hard pressed by the Borderers, who broke through to take the lead with a well positioned try which, however, was not converted. Shortly afterwards the soldiers showed further strength and again crossed the line to give them another five points from a converted try.

WATER POLO WIN FOR "Y"

MEDWAY STOKERS WELL BEATEN

Campbell, the prominent army swimmer, played a leading part in the success of the Y.M.C.A. against the Medway stokers in the water polo match in the "Y" both yesterday, when the home side won by 6 goals to one.

Campbell netted three times, and was a constant source of danger to the sailors' defence. The "Y", although definitely the stronger side, did not completely dominate the game, and the Medway deserved to register more than a single goal.

The "Young Men" made the most of their opportunities in the first half at the end of which period they had piled up a four goals lead.

The Medway held their own after changing ends, but found themselves up against a sound defence.

In addition to Campbell's three, Sutherland, Fowler and Henry netted for the Y.M., whilst Buchanan replied for the visitors.

CLUB LOSE POOR GAME

MEDIOCRE HOCKEY AGAINST S.W.B.

FORWARDS ABJECT FAILURE

(By "Bully Off")

I was keenly disappointed in the display of the Club and the South Wales Borderers when the teams met in a return match on the U.S.R.C. ground yesterday. In view of their having gained a 7-1 victory over the soldiers in the previous game one would naturally expect the Club to have at least held their opponents to a draw, but the Borderers, by dogged perseverance and determination, turned the tables and broke the Club's unbeaten record with a one-nil victory. Neither side showed true to their capabilities and play throughout was dull and uninteresting.

There was a general reshuffling of both teams compared with their composition when they met on the last occasion. Absent from the Club side was A.A. Dand, captain and centre-half, and Rodgers at right-back. Dand was injured in the game last week before the Club and the Medway officers' and has not yet sufficiently recovered to re-appear in the side. His place at centre-half was filled by W.A. Reed, whose customary position is right-half, while A.E.P. Guest was brought in to fill the position vacated by Reed. H.J.D. Lowe deputised for Rodgers.

DUNCAN'S CUSTODIANSHIP.

As usual, G. Duncan played a splendid game in goal and received full measure of support from the backs, Lowe and E.V.

SCOTLAND BEAT ENGLAND

London, Nov. 9. In an inter-league football match at Manchester to-day, Scotland repeated their achievement at the end of last season when they defeated England, winning by three goals to nil.

The game was played before 30,000 spectators, who saw Napier put the Scottish League team ahead in the first half. The same player and Dewar added further goals after the interval.

The English League last year headed the competition on goal average and recently defeated the Irish League. Out of the 38 games played with Scotland in this tournament, the English League have won 21, and lost 10.

Reed, although the former was inclined to be slow, Reed, in the centre of the intermediate line, rendered yeoman service and it must have been disheartening for him to see his efforts spoilt by the forwards failing to make the most of the numerous opportunities he gave them. He played a very destructive game, breaking up many dangerous moves by the Borderers.

The other halves, Guest and Potter, made the mistake of keeping too far back. The forwards were the weakest part of the team. They failed to combine effectively and did not make the most of their opportunities in front of goal. Lay, on the left, was right off form, whilst Totley, on the other flank, failed to impress. The three inside men, Williams, Divett and Francis were all slower than usual and lacked finish.

PICK OF BORDERERS. The Borderers were a greatly improved side compared with the form shown in the previous match, despite the fact that there was a re-arrangement in each line. McElaney re-placed Flynn between the sticks and when tested saved well. Welton, moved to right back from his position in the half line in place of Capt. Smithers, and was supported on the left by Pole, who, if he maintains his present form will probably be representing the Army in that position during the Sim Shield competition. Lieut. Cresswell played a magnificent game at centre-half, using his long reach to advantage.

Dykes fell back from inside left to take the place vacated by Welton and Davis appeared on the right. Lieut. Martin was replaced by L. Cpl. Jones on the left wing, the inside position being again taken by Lieut. Tyler. Ets Johnson was the pick of the forwards as leader of the attack, and was served on the left by Pte Jones, in the place of Dykes, and Donah who deputised for L.Cpl. Smith.

THE PLAY.

Play in the first half was very scrappy and the exchanges were more or less even. The game fluctuated and at the interval no score was registered. Determined efforts on the part of the Borderers gave the club goal many anxious moments in the second half and Duncan did well to save several shots sent in by Johnson. They opened the scoring soon after the re-start through Johnson, whose low misjudged the ball and it glanced off his stick and went behind him. Johnson nipped in before he could turn and sent in a shot which struck Duncan's pad and rebounded. Into play. Johnson, taking a first time shot, gave the Borderers the goal which lowered the club's colours. Until the end the club tried hard to get an equaliser, with Divett swinging up prominently in many of the moves.

MAMAK FRIENDLY GAMES.

The Kowloon Indians gained their first point in the Mamak Tournament yesterday when they shared honours in a goalless draw with the 20th Battery on the U.S.R.C. ground.

The "Varsity" in a friendly game with a Medway XI, on the R.N. O.S.C. ground won by three goals to nil. Scorers for the winners were K.T. Loke, A.M. Rodrigues and A.J. Basto.

INTRA-CLUB GAME.

Shameen, Nov. 9. An enjoyable hockey match was played yesterday between members of the Shameen Sports Club, resulting in a win for whites. Although Von Eason was not playing, I am glad to state that he has practically recovered from his recent hurt, and will no doubt be turning out again shortly.—Our Own Correspondent.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

The warm-hearted reception given Una Merkel by film fans in her last two years of screen work is a tribute that has been hers since she was a girl in her teens. As a young Sunday school teacher in Covington, Kentucky, the young star who appears with Joan Bennett and Spencer Tracy in the Fox dramatic romance "She Wanted A Millionaire" opening at the Oriental Theatre to-day, earned the praise, trust and friendship of the parents of her pupils.

Miss Merkel's role in "She Wanted A Millionaire" which John Blystone directed from William Anthony McGuire's screen play is that of a hard-boiled, sophisticated newspaper reporter and the humorous touch she gives to the role is said to be one of the highlights of the picture.

"Sunshine Susie."

There are people, morose individuals, who are apt to take their troubles in advance, who have declared that there never has been so certain a tonic for the blues as "Sunshine Susie," now showing at the King's Theatre. You may enter the picture theatre with the usual heap of cares perched on your shoulder, but you'll discover that those cares vanish instantly. Susie's magic touch. There is something about the picture that radiates happiness; that makes you feel that life is, after all, really worth living. It may be the bright music, it may be Jack Hulbert's irresistible fooling for those scenes in the beer-garden are surely the funniest ever devised—but above all, there is the sunny personality of the star herself, a personality destined to be remembered long after the film has reached its happy conclusion. "Sunshine Susie" brings to the screen the most captivating of German musical comedy actresses Miss Renate Muller, who sings and acts delightfully, and who has a personality with a capital P. Filmgoers will be hearing much more of this fascinating blonde before very long. Jack Hulbert, also, has the finest role of his career in that of Herr Hasel, the bank commissionaire who conducts a beer-garden choir in his leisure, and whose songs and antics yield hilarity in fullest measure. His "choir," by the way is one of the quaintest collection of types ever assembled in a film.

"Cracked Nuts."

"Paris is considered by many the style headquarters of the world.

But nothing can be further from the truth! This is the opinion of Ethel Smallwood, Radio Pictures' fashion designer under the supervision of Max Ree, art director. "Where a handful of fashionable women are the styles of Paris, millions emulate these created by motion picture costumers. This is because film styles are carried direct to people in thousands of cities within a month after they are created." The latest creations of Miss Smallwood's nimble fingers and brain were those for Dorothy Lee, Leni Stengel and Edna May Oliver in Radio Pictures' "Cracked Nuts," showing from Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. They reveal an ultra modern taste combined with practicality and economy. Miss Lee wears three different and distinctive afternoon frocks—blue crepe, with embroidered seashell motifs; a print with brown organdy trimming; and a nude-colored pressed chiffon trimmed with lace. She is particularly fetching in green print chiffon worn with Manubasin flower jewellery. One of her afternoon frocks is old rose light cream, with coral and pearl jewellery. The vampish Miss Stengel also is fascinating in widow's weeds of black montanie crepe, white velvet and black fox fur. Her street dress consists of two-tone tan montanie crepe with gold jewellery. Edna May Oliver is seen in rayon crepe print and orchid velvet, hand-blocked negligee; a green Elizabeth crepe garden dress and uniform.

"Caught Plastered."

MR. HOOVER SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

New York, Nov. 9. Incomplete returns indicate that Mr. Roosevelt may expect 463 electoral votes and Mr. Hoover 78. A Republican landslide is evidenced by the fact that by 4:30 p.m. G.M.T. Mr. Roosevelt was leading in 38 States, carrying 434 electoral votes, while Mr. Hoover was ahead in only six States with 70 votes.—Reuter.

Congratulations
Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 9. Mr. Hoover has prepared a message congratulating Mr. Roosevelt on his victory.

Mr. Hoover has telegraphed to Mr. Roosevelt as follows: "I congratulate you on the opportunity which has come to you to be of service to your country. I wish you a very successful administration. In the common purpose of all of us I shall dedicate myself to every possible helpful effort."—Reuter.

Blind Resentment
New York, Nov. 8. Mr. Hoover has been swept out of the White House by the blind resentment of millions of Americans who are suffering from hard times, also to his somewhat uninspiring personality and complete lack of histrionic ability as compared with Mr. Roosevelt, and the latter's very able publicity.

Undoubtedly many thousands of "wet" Republicans have been alienated by Mr. Hoover's ambiguous attitude toward prohibition.

The worldwide result of Mr. Roosevelt's election is not likely to be very noticeable: it is improbable that there will be any drastic reduction in the United States tariff. Both parties officially oppose the cancellation of War Debts but are willing to consider a readjustment in return for facilities in connexion with United States exports by debtor nations.

BAN ON CEMENT.

REMARKABLE ACTION IN CANTON

The Municipal Bureau of Public Works at Canton has issued a notification announcing that the entry into the city and the sale therein of Green Island cement is banned. It is alleged in the Canton Gazette that such decision has been the outcome of tests on the cement, which has been found "to be not up to the required standard" and therefore not to be used for building purposes in the city.

States exports by debtor nations. Mr. Roosevelt may be expected to continue Mr. Hoover's policy of limited co-operation with the League of Nations on Disarmament, the prevention of war, and the restoration of the economic health of the world.

With regard to Prohibition Mr. Roosevelt will not hinder the revision of the Volstead Act for beer.

He is expected to be a sympathizer with the claim of the unemployed for Federal relief.—Reuter.

No Change Likely

Peking, Nov. 9. When informed by Reuter of Roosevelt's election, Mr. C. C. Wu evinced little surprise, adding that it was a foregone conclusion. Questioned regarding the possible effect of the election on American foreign policy, particularly with reference to the Far East, he replied "All I can say is that a change in president does not necessarily mean a change in foreign policy."

Although the Democrats are known for not having as strong a foreign policy as the Republicans yet, it was a Democratic President who brought the United States into the Great War.

Mr. Wu stressed that the foreign policy regarding the Far East was not an issue of the recent campaign, saying that one guess was as good as another regarding Roosevelt's attitude.—Reuter's Special.

Mortgage Department, 1930-1931

Year	Amount	Market Value of Property	% Value loaned	Average Interest rate	Average Commission %	Excess Interest over 8%	Amount Commission Earned
1930	10,052,040	$18,662,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	$118,614	$122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,565	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825
						$373,905	$269,141
							373,905

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930	$ 6,532,660.00
1931	$13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders' Meeting, February 29th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working, I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interests. As our balance sheets show quite plainly, the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security, the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

Safeguarding YOUR INVESTMENT!

The natural laws of economics require an investor to secure the best return especially upon savings—trust funds—consistent with safety.

The China Realty Company is one of the oldest (established more than 20 years) real estate companies in Shanghai with a steady successful record back of it.

Capital $5,000,000 fully paid in cash.

Business turnover 1931, $45,632,300 in and mortgages only, which does not include management of estates, rent collections, insurance written, trustees for beneficial owners of property and sundry sources of income.

The Company are Realtors, not speculators in Real Estate.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1931 shows:—

Assets	$12,341,726.31
Land and Buildings at cost	3,351,055.84
Cash	1,844,259.11

Mortgages on Real Estate held by Company Dec. 31, 1931 $5,971,200
Total Debenture issue Dec. 31, 1931 4,840,700
by which it will be noted that all of the proceeds from Debentures are invested in Mortgages and $1,131,500 of the Company's capital.

In the past twenty years the Company has negotiated more than one hundred million Taols in mortgages, all of which has been repaid, principal with interest.

POPPY DAY APPEAL

OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL TO GIVE DONATIONS

To-morrow is Armistice Day, the day of remembrance, when the street sale of poppies in aid of Earl Haig's Fund will be carried out by many willing helpers. It gives an opportunity for all to contribute their bit, additional to subscriptions to the general fund or at subsequent auctions and other functions. The street sales of these flowers of remembrance have always had good results in the Colony, the public responding readily and a substantial sum being raised. It is unfortunate that economic depression has affected some of the collections, and the lower rate of exchange in the past few years appearing less than they would be if the old rate prevailed. At one time Hongkong stood quite high in the list of contributions from all parts of the Empire: It is possible to attain that position again, or even surpass it. Indeed, the local body who are appealing for funds hope that all who give donations will make an effort to give a little more this time, so as to make up for the loss on exchange.

An Urgent Need.

This is also a time when the people who benefit from the Fund—the war-maimed, the disabled and their dependants—are likely to require help more urgently than ever. The unemployment, and general distress throughout the world has had repercussions in Britain which this year have become greatly intensified, and there must be many whose only means of livelihood has been lost, and who will need additional assistance from the funds collected on their behalf.

The report on Earl Haig's Fund for last year shows that over four and a half million pounds sterling has been collected in eleven years. It is a fine record, and one that must be maintained. As the report comments—"It is a movement which has the sympathy and support of all British people, irrespective of class, religion or politics. All are at one when it concerns Poppy Day, which is a common endeavour to help those who suffered in a common cause."

The totals since the Fund was inaugurated show a steady increase year by year, and despite the economic distress in 1931 the total was nearly on the same level as it had been since 1923, namely, £501,082 for England, Wales, Ireland and Overseas, and £73,608 for Scotland.

Hongkong's Part.

The collection from Hongkong and Outports last year was $1,223,19-10. From the Colony of Hongkong alone the sum of $15,273-52 cts. was sent, which does not include a substantial amount sent direct to the Scottish fund. The street sale of poppies realised approximately $5,700. It is hoped that these amounts will be surpassed this year.

In May last, the organisation suffered a severe loss in the burning of the British Legion poppy warehouse at King's Cross. Approximately 20,000,000 poppies were destroyed, in addition to quantities of wreaths and other material. It is hoped that by increased sums being paid for the poppies purchased this year, the loss will be made up.

CHARGE AGAINST A SWISS.

ALLEGED CONSENT BY THE COMPLAINANT

The Police Magistrate (Mr. Schofield) yesterday reserved decision in the case of Henri Urmi, Swiss motor mechanic, who was charged with indecent assault on Chong Wan, a 20 year old Chinese girl.

Mr. MacKinnon, who appeared for the defendant, submitted that there was no case to answer. "Before my client can be made to answer this charge," he said, "the prosecution must adduce evidence that the assault was against the girl's wishes."

The Police Magistrate ruled that there was evidence dealing with consent.

The defendant was placed in the box, and the Court cleared. He said that at 10 o'clock on October 14 he was driving along Leighton Hill Road towards the Sookunpoo football grounds. The complainant was walking along the road. Witness had seen her in Tin Lok Lane 10 minutes before. A European was then following her. In Leighton Hill Road she was with three or four young Chinese. He stopped his car and opened the door.

The girl got in and intimated that she wanted to be taken to North Point. She spoke half in English and half in Chinese. Witness described the incidents which followed, and declared that what happened was with the girl's entire consent.

His Worship said that he thought there seemed little doubt that the accused's story must be accepted as it stood. He thought that Urmi had gone farther than the girl desired.

After further discussion, his Worship intimated that he would require a little time to consider the case and the fact whether there should be any conviction at all.

Decision was adjourned until Saturday morning.

FOREST WEALTH

SOFT-WOOD trees growing on fertile acres in New Zealand forests are in process of building up handsome yields on moderate capital expenditure.

THE world's ever-increasing demand for newsprint and the 4,000 other uses for soft wood, will be met in large part from these forests.

AND then—all these far-sighted investors in the N. Z. Perpetual Forests bonds—of whom, to-day, there are over 85,000—will reap the reward of their astute investment.

A £30 bond—payable by instalments—secures from the Company the rights in one undivided planted acre of the world's richest plac country. In twelve years it is conservatively estimated that a bond will yield approximately £250; in 20 years, £500.

WRITE to-day for prospectus covering the present issue and learn of the immense possibilities of this profitable investment.

AUSTRALIAN SAILORS IN BAY DEMONSTRATION

London, Nov. 9.
Two hundred ratings of the Australian navy walked ashore at Melbourne to-night from the warships moored at the pier and held a meeting of protest against the reduction of pay, under the Financial Emergency Act.
The officers urged the men not
to do anything that might suggest mutiny, but some of the spokesmen from the sailors threatened that unless their grievances were remedied definite action would be taken by 3,000 ratings.
As a result of the meeting the
men formed a welfare committee
and, induced by their leaders, returned to their ships, which are due to sail for Jervis Bay in the morning.—Our Own Correspondent.

Concessions Increased.

Canberra, Nov. 9.
Following a protest meeting of 200 naval ratings at Melbourne against a reduction in pay under the Financial Emergency Act and
at which spokesmen threatened action by 3,000 ratings unless the grievances were remedied, a Government recommendation to the Naval Board has decided to increase the travelling concessions to ratings going and returning on leave and also the child endowment of nine and an eighth to sterling, which is the rate paid the
public service employees.
There will also be an increase in the daily rations allowance
from 15 to 27 pence.
The warships sailed from Melbourne without further incident.

BENCH'S PATERNAL WARNING.

London, Nov. 9.
The Hampstead Magistrate today addressed 18-year-old Ivan Seruya in severe paternal language before leniently binding
him over in the sole surety of his mother to behave properly for two years.

The police reported that Seruya
was an ardent Communist and that his room was plastered with Communist matter and Soviet badges.

Seruya's lawyer said accused was studying for a chemist's degree at the Royal College of Science. After attending a meeting at Trafalgar Square, he decided on his way home to smash the windows of the Premier's house,
thinking it was empty.
Seruya was found at 3 a.m. in the garden of the Premier's home
with stones in his hands.—Reuter.

London, Nov. 9.
A decree issued by the French Government compels all fliers
across the Sahara to deposit with
the Government 100,000 francs as security against the cost of sending French military machines in search of lost aviators, and to cover the possible cost of salvage.

An attempt to secure the waiving of the regulations in the case
of Miss Amy Johnson (Mrs.
Mollison), who is leaving on a flight to the Cape to-morrow, failed.—Our Own Correspondent.

tion was punctuated by rifle shots
from the slope above.

Malloy gazed in the direction of the firing for a full minute, then he turned to face Dona. "No, I won't saddle up for you." His mouth was tight and his eyes glowed evenly.

"Then I'll saddle him myself."
Dona slid from the top pole.

"And I won't let you do that,"
Malloy spoke grimly.

"Why?" the girl snapped out the
one word.

"There ain't no place up on that mountain for a girl tonight," Malloy replied simply.

"But I'm going to see that Ball
is captured," Dona spoke firmly.

"He'll likely be killed," Malloy's voice had sunk to a harsh drawl.

"Sworgerin will bring him in; he's a deputy sheriff." Something in the lank cowboy's words put Dona
on the defensive.

"Sworgerin always packs a rope," Malloy drawled.

"You seem to think it funny to talk half-sense. Saddle my horse!
I'm going with those men," Dona stamped her little foot.

"Sorry, Ma'am, but I won't let you ride out tonight," Malloy placed his lank form in front of
her as he spoke.

Dona tried to pass him but he pushed her back. "If I have to do it I can pack you up the hill!" he warned.

Realizing that he meant just what he said, Dona gave in. But she did not return to her room. Malloy seemed disturbed by this and sat watching her grimly. From up the slope came the thunder of hoofs. A group of the riders were returning.

They were crowded close together and travelling at a trot. Malloy slid from the fence.

"You run on to bed," he ordered gruffly. His voice was anxious in spite of its drawl.

Dona realized that he was trying to get her away before the men arrived. She was determined to stay to see what had happened. "You can't tell me what to do," she flared and stepped back from the open gate.

Malloy shrugged his shoulders
and stood waiting. The men trotted up and as they came it was plain that the form of a man was lying limply across the saddle of
the foremost rider.

POPULAR YOUTH.

MR. G. A. VIEIRA-RIBEIRO DIES AFTER ILLNESS

It is with great regret that we have to record the death of Mr.
Gustavo Augusto Vieira-Ribeiro,
son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Vieira-Ribeiro, at the French Hospital
yesterday morning.

The late Mr. Vieira-Ribeiro, who was only 20 years of age, had been in ailing health for sometime. He was formerly employed at the Hongkong Electric Company.

A prominent athlete in his school-days, the deceased was a popular member of the Club de Recreation and the Victoria Recreation Club. He was also in the Hongkong Volunteers, being attached to the Portuguese Company
as a bugler.

Much sympathy will be extended to his parents and relatives in their bereavement.

The funeral took place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. Many floral tributes were sent to the graveside.

Two little words— mean a NON-STOP voyage

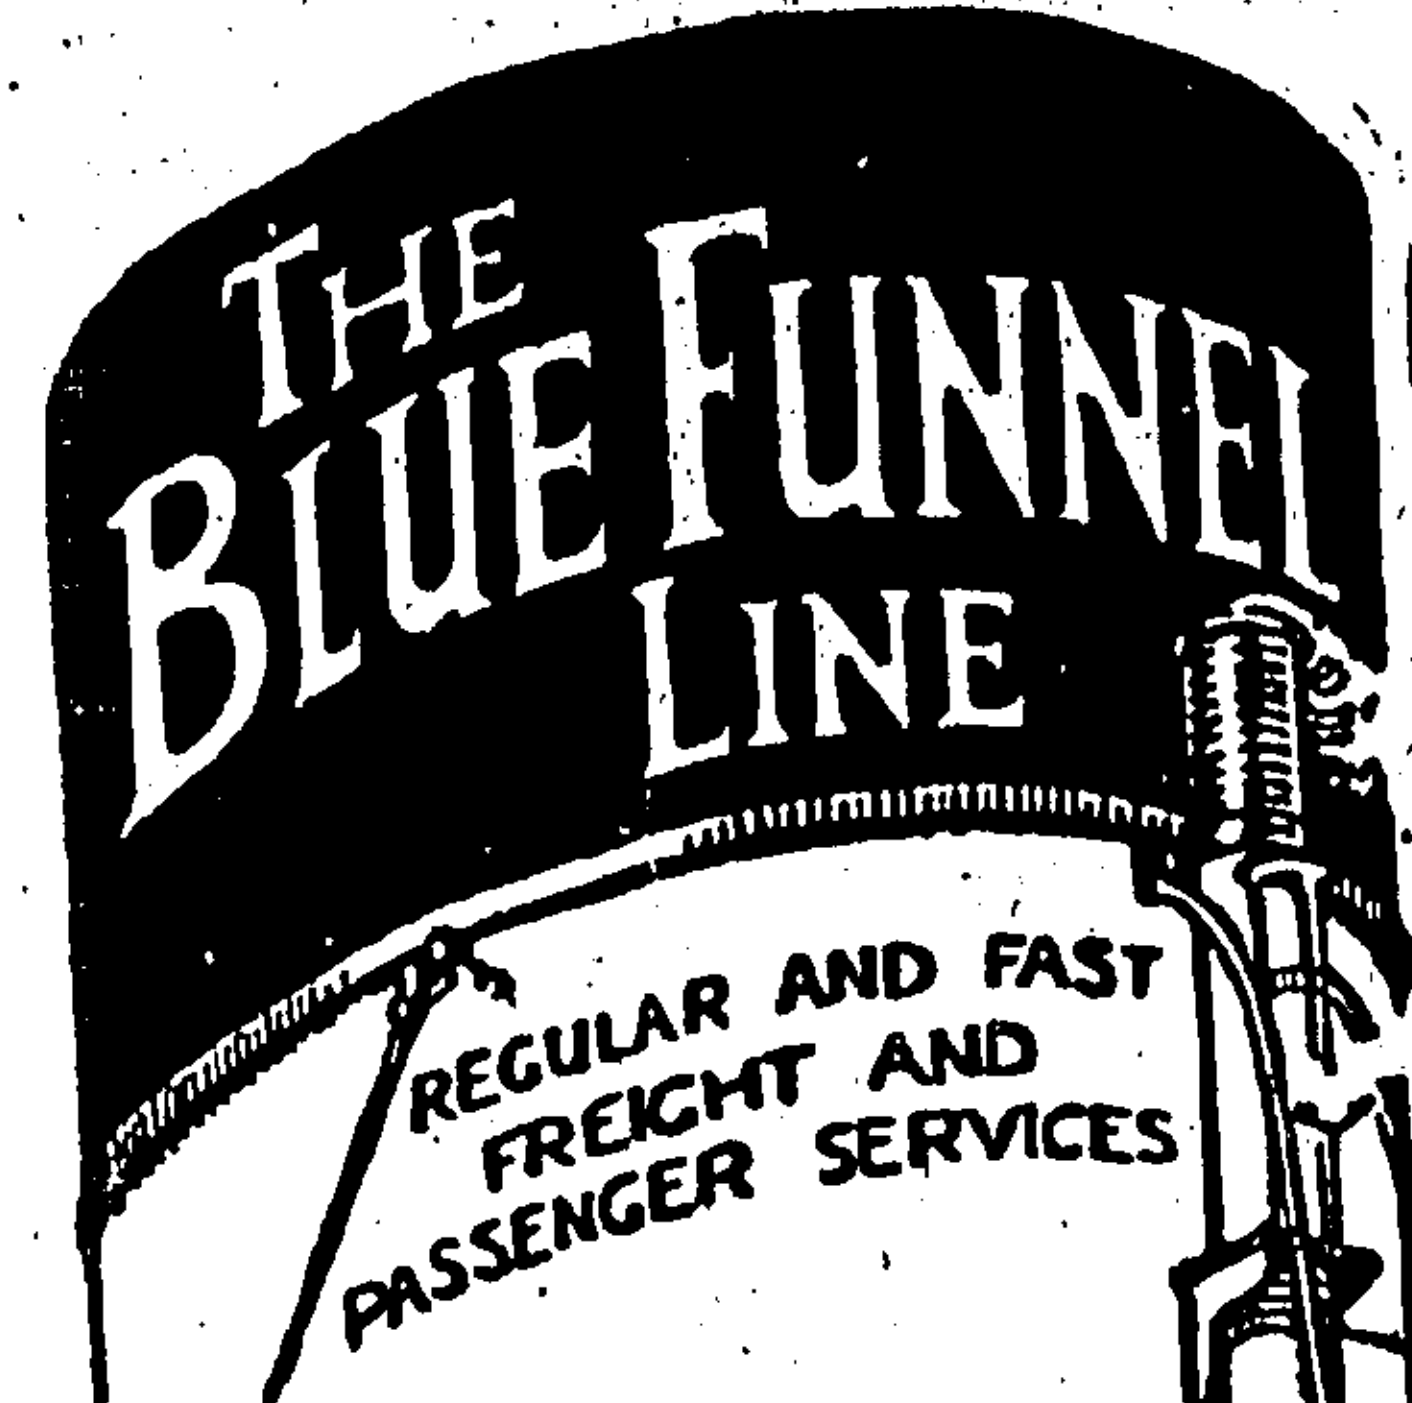

TWO WORDS on your shipping instructions will save hours and days for you. The same two words will mean that your freight shipment to the United States will make a NON-STOP voyage.

The same two words will assure you that your freight
will be well handled... and speedily placed on the cars
... when it arrives in port.

The two little words we speak of are to be written in inkable pencil right after the word "SHIP" on your shipping tickets. They are "VIA SEATTLE." Never forget them! They have saved time on millions of tons of freight each year... consigned from the Orient to the United States. Investigate! Write Bell Street Terminal,

FINDINGS NOT KEEPINGS

SEQUEL TO LOST DOLLAR

A woman newspaper hawk was charged at the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. Butters this morning with larceny by finding of a silver dollar near the Star Ferry Wharf on Tuesday morning.

It was alleged that defendant was standing near the bus stop when a bus drew up alongside the wharf. Sergeant McKay, who was on duty at the spot, saw a silver dollar roll out of the bus towards the defendant, who stooped and picked it up.

Another Chinese woman was then seen to come out of the bus and search for something. It was obvious that she was the owner of the dollar, but although defendant saw her looking for the lost coin, she did not return it. Sergeant McKay then arrested her.

Defendant stated that her husband was in the bus at the time, and when she picked up the dollar she was under the impression that he had dropped it.

His Worship did not believe her story and imposed a fine of $25, or three weeks.

ADMIRAL KELLY ARRIVES

SALUTES FIRED THIS MORNING

The Commander-in-Chief, China Station, Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, arrived in Hongkong late last night on board his flagship, H.M.S. Kent.

At 8 o'clock this morning the flag of the Commander-in-Chief was saluted by H.M.S. Tamar, with eleven guns, H.M.S. Medway returning the salute. Immediately afterwards a salute of seventeen guns to the Commander-in-Chief was given by the U.S.S. Mindanao, H.M.S. Medway returning the salute.

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Nov. 9. Attempts to foist foreign manufactures upon consumers in Britain and elsewhere as British goods, by the employment of false marks or labels, or by imitating the goods and wrappers of well-known British manufacturers have been the subject of representations by the British Government.

It was disclosed in the House of Commons to-day by Major Colville, the Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, that numerous instances had been brought to the attention of the Government and that protests had been lodged with the Japanese and other governments.

Major Colville gave an assurance that any further cases brought to his notice would most certainly be taken up.

He told questioners, however, that while adequate protection could be afforded in Great Britain and in the British Colonies and Dominions, designs and trade marks ought to be registered in the countries where protection is desired and legal action taken in the case of infringement.

The Commander-in-Chief of the French Asiatic Fleet, Vice-Admiral Bothelet, will leave Hongkong for Saigon this afternoon on the flagship Primauguet, after a stay of one week in Hongkong.

The U.S. Commander-in-Chief will arrive from Shanghai on the U.S.S. Houston on Saturday.

LINKING UP WITH HONAM

Canton, Nov. 9. The Municipal Government is taking steps to construct another bridge across the Canton River between the Bund at Tai Ping Road South and Ou Chow New Street in Honam suburb, the two points being separated by about 600 feet. It is learned that the Municipal Bureau of Public Works is sounding the depth of the river at this crossing and is determining the nature of the river bed prior to the design of a bridge.

This part of the Bund is a very busy section of the city, and its connexion with Honam suburb by a bridge will facilitate communications. At present the crossing is made possible by small boats and a motor ferry.

The Wat Sun Bridge further east on the Bund will be opened to traffic on January 1 with facilities for pedestrians and motor traffic. —Central Press.

THE FUTURE OF AVIATION

GOVERNMENT NOT TO BE DRAWN

London, Nov. 9. In the House of Commons the Prime Minister was asked whether the Government were in a position to announce a decision regarding the proposal for the abolition of all naval and military aviation and the internationalisation of civil aviation.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald replied that the debate on disarmament in the House of Commons to-morrow would take part, but the Government proposals must be duly formulated and presented to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva under conditions which he had already explained in the Commons last Wednesday. —British Wireless.
